PAPER MONEY

1951-1961

On January 3rd last, this firm marked an event which, we believe, is unequalled in the modern history of the numismatic profession — the successful formal association of two individuals not in any way related personally, for a full period of ten years.

As anyone who is familiar with either principal will know, this time has not been without its "hectic" moments but the important thing is that we, as a team, have survived and still are talking to one another! ! !

During the past ten years we have purchased and sold millions of dollars worth of fine numismatic material. This has been accomplished through the medium of no less than twenty-five public auction sales, fifteen mail bid sales, numerous fixed price lists, attendance by one or both of us at most of the important conventions, together with the operation of both a mail and over-the-counter wholesale and retail coin business.

We have conducted ourselves in the belief that numismatics is an honored and honorable profession. We believe that our associated dealing has reflected this attitude and that the efforts sponsored by us have, in many ways, contributed to the advancement of the science of numismatics and to the hobby. Our public auction sale catalogues in particular, where we have attempted to inform as well as to sell, continue to signify our original intent to put as much or more into the coin business as we take out of it.

It has always been a pleasure to really try and serve our friends and customers — to continue to do so will be our constant endeavor.

PAPER MONEY OF INDIANA

A Descriptive Listing

By

DR. E. D. SKEEN, A.N.A. No. 4017

DURING the period of banking development in these United States when the cupidity of so many men showed through the veneer of brotherhood, the experience in Indiana is more pleasing to contemplate than that of most states. It also is evidence that the numerous failures stemmed from the frailty of politicians and so-called bankers rather than from the principle of banking, per se. Not that the Indiana picture has no seamy side, but the failures and defaults were exceptions rather than commonplace.

As in most Midwestern states, banking in Indiana began prior to statehood, in the Indiana Territory. Private banks were established at several locations, the first being at Vincennes; these, however, were without authority to emit notes. The Territory depended upon issues from banks in Ohio and other states. In 1814 the Legislature chartered the Bank of Vincennes and the Farmers and Mechanics Bank in Madison, both becoming note issuing banks. Pursuant to adoption of the state constitution in 1816, which prohibited the chartering of any other banks except a State Bank, the Legislature provided for adopting the Bank of Vincennes and enlarging it. The plans never matured completely and, due to unwise management, action was taken in 1821 to annul its charter.

For over a decade Indiana had very meager banking facilities and depended for circulating media upon the notes issued in other states, privately issued notes (especially fractional) and upon notes issued by the Louisville and Cincinnati branches of the Bank of the United States. When it became evident that this dominating bank was not to be continued, the Legislature chartered the State Bank of Indiana in January, 1834.

The opening of this bank in November, 1834, ushered in the beginning of two decades of sound and adequate banking in Indiana. The State Bank of Indiana, with its ten branches (later increased to thirteen), was a monopoly during its lifetime. The State owned half of the stock and the other half was sold to individuals, all being paid for in specie. The charter contained many wise provisions for carefully guarding the public welfare but, considering the period, the most unusual one was prohibiting the dealing in real estate—this was a specie-paying institution. The head office in Indianapolis was a parent bank in name only, since all banking functions were carried on by the branches in Bedford, Evansville, Fort Wayne, Indian-

Dr. E. D. Skeen, Walkerton, Ind., is a native of Nebraska, where he received his formal education. Over many years he has acquired a collection of Indiana paper money which is undoubtedly the most complete ever assembled. It includes notes from the collection of that dean of obsolete note collectors, D. C. Wismer, and from the Green, Mitchell and other collections.

apolis, Lafayette, Lawrenceburg, Madison, Michigan City, New Albany, Richmond, South Bend, Terre Haute and Vincennes.

The success of the Bank, the high rate of interest paid to stockholders (including the State) and the fact that it weathered the panic of 1837 were due in no small measure to the ability and integrity of its officers. President for the first ten years was Samuel Merrill; James M. Ray was cashier throughout its career; Hugh McCulloch was president of the Fort Wayne branch.

Notwithstanding its place of eminence, the hostility toward the Bank of the United States engendered by President Jackson spread to the State Bank of Indiana, as well as to other state-controlled banks. When the state constitutional convention met in 1850, the opposition proved strong enough to change the banking provisions. The State was prohibited from owning any bank stock, and the way was opened for enactment of a general banking law, which the Legislature did in 1853. Two years later the Bank of the State of Indiana was chartered, to begin operation upon expiration of the State Bank of Indiana's charter. The latter began liquidation in 1855 and by 1858 had ceased to function as a bank.

Although the Bank of the State of Indiana was conceived in a spirit of corruption and organized by most questionable methods (its very name intentionally implied state control and ownership), it followed a safe and conservative course. This was due largely to machinations through which Hugh McCulloch became president and James M. Ray (cashier of the old Bank) became cashier and brought a number of others from the old Bank to its successor. Its doors were kept open through the panic of 1859 which brought on failure of many of the country's important banks and which only three of the recently organized "free" banks in Indiana survived.

The Bank of the State of Indiana was authorized to establish twenty branches but a few of them were never organized. Following passage of the National Banking Act, all but three of the branches reorganized into National Banks, two continued as private banks in good standing, and one liquidated and resigned its charter. Scarcity of the notes of both State Banks is due to the fact that none was ever repudiated, and most of them were redeemed at par or at very little discount.

The "seamy" side of Indiana's banking picture is the one of most interest to collectors of notes, for without it they would have far fewer or no Indiana notes in their albums. Even when the State Bank of Indiana had a monopoly on banking business, a number of private business firms — particularly some of those involved in the internal improvement system — issued bills. Some were redeemed faithfully but others suffered depreciation or proved worthless and were never cancelled or destroyed.

The General Banking Act, passed in 1853, opened the door to speculators and swindlers. So-called banks sprang up like mushrooms (some banks almost as inaccessible as places where mushrooms grow) and flooded the state with their notes. Within two years, about a hundred banks were opened and issued nearly ten million dollars in notes. In 1855 the Legislature made an attempt to remedy the situation and drove out of business some of the banks which had not already failed. The financial panic of 1857 forced others to close their doors. Many of these "free" banks paid their obligations without great loss, but some notes became so worthless that the holders didn't bother to turn them in.

Some statistics on these banks will be included in this article, but no records are available of some of the wildest of the "wildcats." Certain it is that the notes of many — probably all — Indiana banks are valued higher by collectors today than they were by the holders thereof a century ago.

The tables are included for two reasons. They serve as a ready list (although not complete) of the banks organized under the General Banking Law (of Indiana) of 1852. These are among the so-called "Free Banks," in the listing to follow. The tabulations also show that, in general, these banks did deposit ample securities with the State Auditor to cover their note issues. Thus most of these notes were redeemed and few are available to collectors today.

The Listing — Explanatory Notations

Although based on a large collection of Indiana notes and the listing by D. C. Wismer in The Numismatist, Vol. 37, it is assumed that no such list can ever be complete. Therefore, in numbering the banks, one number has been omitted under each town and city for convenience in including any other bank or organization whose notes may be known to other collectors or which may come to light subsequently. Words set in small capital type appear on the note described, although such words may be in any style of lettering on the notes themselves.

The following abbreviations are used in listing notes: R — right; L — left; C — center or central; PB — private bank; FB — free bank; P — personal, private, store, etc. issues; E — engraver, printer or lithographer (refer to following list of names); W — D. C. Wismer, report, records, etc.; EDS — indicates that the note is in the author's collection. The description of a note usually reads L to R upper, then lower. The letters A, B, etc. in the descriptions refer to plate positions shown on the notes.

The work at the first Mint was done entirely by hand or horse power; existing bills of the establishment showing that hay and pasture were provided evidently for horses, and rum and cider also bought, certainly for men. During 1797-1798 and '99, also in 1802-03, all operations were at times suspended on account of the prevalence of yellow fever in Philadelphia. — The U. S. Mint, by A. M. Smith, 1885.

Numismatic Vignettes

■ The "well known philatelist and numismatist" referred to on page 1802 in December took us to task (and quite properly so) for not using one word in the place of three. We should have called him a PhilaMatist, for we were speaking of D. O. Barrett, Curator Emeritus of PhilaMatic Center, Boys Town, Neb. He coined this combination of "philatelic" and "numismatic" and had the name "PhilaMatic Center" copyrighted. If you need help in pronouncing the combined word, here is how the originator says it should be—Phi-la-Mat'ic and philam'a-tist. And if you haven't visited PhilaMatic Center, do so at your first opportunity. And to you, "D.O."—thanks for the hours of pleasure and learning we've had among your treasured displays.

■ Flowers to the living! The Utah Mintmaster, published by the Utah Numismatic Society, Inc., recently inquired of Mrs. Rae V. Biester, Superintendent of the United States Mint, if there was a chief coiner or someone "in charge of coining operations" on her staff. Surprisingly, her reply was in the negative. Not to be stayed in its good intentions, Mintmaster has shown its esteem for Mrs. Biester by appointing her its Honorary Editor. We are not authorized to speak for her, but we venture to say that this gesture pleased Mrs. Biester.

What we are trying to say has been said many times but is often overlooked—it's the spirit of the award, honor or gift that is appreciated, rather than its cost. And none of them is of value to the recipient after he or she has departed this life. Let's offer a kind word and a deserved compliment now.

■ Will numismatists of a century hence be puzzled by items they find of the mid-Twentieth Century? Pictured above are the two sides of a little brass token or coin bearing the date 1846 and designs which seem to link it to the Mormon exodus from Nauvoo, Ill. Edgar H. NATIONAL COIN WEEK

April 23-30, 1961

This year's theme of "Coins and Currency of Yesteryears" is challenging and broad enough to bring out some really unusual exhibits. The general public, at whom our annual National Coin Week displays are aimed, can be entertained by and educated in this finest of hobbies by the judicious application of imagination and thought to our theme.

All A.N.A. clubs and individual members are eligible to participate. For either, however, advance planning is necessary. The story you'll tell, the exhibit you'll make to tell it, the talks you'll give, your exhibit location, your publicity—all are important to your chances of winning an award. But whether or not you win anything other than a participation certificate, you will have the satisfaction of having done your bit to introduce new members to this King of Hobbies.

For information and details on National Coin Week, please write the NCW General Chairman, Miss Dolly-Maude Harris, 401 W. Twenty-sixth St., Austin, Texas. Carlton Brush is Vice Chairman and Thomas McCrummen, Jr., Awards Chairman.

SPANISH COLONIAL MINTS

By

ALAN K. CRAIG, A.N.A. No. 10211

INTEREST in the broad field of Spanish colonial coinage has been rapidly increasing in the past few years. It is understandable that this popularity is developing, particularly among collectors of our own New England colonial series. There are many references in early literature concerning Spanish coins which are known to have circulated freely in the thirteen colonies as a result of a serious "hard" money shortage.

This article has been prepared to present some of the historical information and data that are essential to a proper understanding of mint activities which began in this hemisphere long before the Pilgrims landed on our shores. Although the contents of this paper are quite brief, the reader will find a certain amount of basic material which has not been available in former publications printed in the United States.

To determine when and where coins were struck in the New World, it is necessary to quote excerpts from certain Royal ordenanzas (statutes) and cédulas (letters patent). These documents are located in a number of foreign archives which have never been available to the general public. The translations which follow are written in more or less contemporary English, based on the original Castilian transcriptions published by Adolfo Herrera¹ in his famous monograph El Duro, a book in itself difficult to obtain.

¹Herrera, Adolfo, El Duro, 2 vols., 532 pp., J. Lacoste, Madrid, 1914.

First mention of the subject occurs in the Royal cédula of May 11, 1535, which orders the establishment of a mint in Mexico and states in part:

... (of) the said coins of silver that shall be made, half must be of simple reales and the fourth part of two reales and of three reales, and the other fourth part of half reales and quarter reales ...

It further describes the design to be used as follows:

... and the die for the one real and the two and three reales must be of the one part principally castles and lions and of the other part the columns, and between them an inscription which must say PLUS ULTRA, which is the motto of the Emperor, my master, and half reales must have of one part an 'R' and an 'I' and of the other part the columns, and between them the said motto of PLUS ULTRA, and the quarter reales must have of one part an 'I' and of the other an 'R' and in the legend of all these coins of silver it must say CAROLUS IOANNA REGES HISPANIAE ET INDIARUM, and that which you must copy and place in the part where the columns shall be is a Latin 'M' so that it shall be known that it was made in Mexico ...

Apparently these instructions were not followed very closely, especially with regard to the design. The Viceroy of Mexico eventually wrote to Spain explaining that he had not ordered the striking of three reales pieces because he felt that they would be confused in payments with four reales coins. In this same letter he asked permission to make eight reales coins and received his answer in the Royal decree of November 18, 1537, which said in effect that he could make them if he felt so inclined.

These are the first official documents which mention eight reales pieces to be made in the New World. Evidently the Viceroy did not find it convenient to produce such large coins after all, as no examples from this earliest period are known. Actually, Mexican duros or pieces of eight did not appear until the reign of Felipe II (1555-1598), but the reason for this delay is not fully known. Possibly it was a question of inadequate facilities.

In addition, there is some doubt among the authorities as to whether any four reales pieces were made under the permit of 1535, although a few supposedly legitimate examples have been offered for sale in recent years. Such coins, if properly authenticated, would indeed be items of unusual numismatic interest.

Very little information is available on the subject of Mexican fractional coins of one-half and one-quarter real which are rather carefully described in the decree. A number of these interesting coins from the Potosí (Bolivia) mint, struck in the following century, have been studied by the writer and found to conform generally to the original instructions. It seems likely that much of the required design was omitted for the practical reason that the planchets themselves were too small to accommodate everything which the King considered necessary.

Again, on July 28, 1542, the Viceroy of Mexico, Don Antonio de Mendoza, issued instructions on the making of coins and what should be placed on them, saying that they must have "... an 'M' below with an 'O' above the name of Mexico . . ." Thus we have the basis for what has since become a familiar mint mark of coins made at Mexico City.

A Royal ordenanza, dated November 23, 1566, ordered mints of the kingdom to strike coins in gold² and silver with the name of the King, using dies that conformed in all respects to samples which he sent them. Another Royal decree, dated May 10, 1570, declared that silver coins struck in America would have the same fineness, weight and values as those of Spain, without any differences in the dies, punches, and coat of arms.

According to Herrera (p. 96), the earliest eight reales coins of standard design to be struck in the Americas were probably made at Potosí, and they were also the first to bear the name of Felipe II. Although without dates, it is certain that they were made after 1572 as the Lima (Perú) mint and all of its machinery were moved to Potosí during that year.

The transfer of mint activities to Potosí was brought about by the discovery in 1545 of the world's largest deposits of silver in the famous "Cerro de Potosí." Prior to 1572, this silver was laboriously transported to Lima, but soon the fantastic quantities of metal being produced made it necessary to move closer to the source of raw materials. Between January 1, 1556, and December 30, 1800, official records³ show that the Spanish Crown received as its fief (originally a fifth and later a tenth) the sum of 157,931,123.1 pesos and that the untaxed amount which was processed came to 823,950,468.7 pesos. As a minimum, we can account for at least 981,881,591.8 pesos of silver which passed through official hands during this period. There is no doubt that the grand total production from 1545 to 1825 was much greater, as mine owners were not necessarily obliged to sell their silver to the mint, much of it being customarily converted into ornaments and religious objects.

²But it should be remembered that the actual striking in gold was in many cases delayed for a considerable length of time after 1566.

³See page 89 of Cronicas Potosinas by Vincente G. Quesada, Editorial Potosí, Tomo I (1950 reprint)

It is known that the Lima mint was founded sometime between 1565 and 1572 and it may be assumed that considerable amounts of minor coins were struck before the move was made to Potosí. However, no eight reales coins are known from this period bearing a Lima mint mark.

Don José Hipólito Unanue mentions in his Guía del Perú that the Lima mint was returned to its original site in 1683. Aloiss Heiss once described an eight reales coin having the date 1650 and the entire name LIMA appearing in two lines on the reverse. As the mint was officially closed at this time and only one example of this coin is known, Herrera (p. 97) believed that it was one of several different trial pieces which were made without being released as regular issues.

Two of the oldest eight reales cobs to bear dates are from Mexico (1600) and Potosí (1618). Four examples from Lima are known with dates of 1659 and 1660, but it is likely that they were patterns or trial pieces, as they are unlike the designs described in the Royal cédula of October 1, 1650.

This Royal letters patent was issued in an effort to stop widespread counterfeiting, which was producing a great variety and number of debased coins. It directed that all previous coinage be turned in to the mints and a new design substituted which was described as follows:

... on one side the arms of Castile and León and on the other the two columns with PLUS ULTRA in the middle, making certain that they must not be changed, and also the year must be placed, the mint and name of the assayer, with great distinction and clarity ...

Unfortunately, the new design was just as easily copied and counterfeiting continued at an even greater rate.

Vignale⁴, in his carefully researched book La Casa Real de Moneda de Potosí, clearly indicated that a great deal of the counterfeiting and debasement which took place over the years can be directly attributed to the mint officials. Aside from the question of honesty, it may be said in general that officials of the three major colonial mints were often very liberal in their interpretations of Royal orders, slow to follow them, and even slower to change their coin designs as instructed.

Cob pieces of all sizes before 1600 are notoriously difficult to identify properly, as they commonly lack much of the legend. It appears that the honor of striking the first official coins in this hemisphere must go to the mint of Mexico for its issues of minor cobs. Similar small coins of very early manufacture are known from Lima as well.

Larger four and eight reales coins of standard weight were widely received in circulation and in later years many of them found their way to our own colonies where they were often known as "bits." The scarcity of references to four reales coins in early American accounts is probably due to the fact that comparatively small quantities were coined and then only intermittently.

Additional information on Spanish colonial mints and coins of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries is available but somewhat difficult to find. One of the basic sources for the advanced collector is the massive work of Herrera which was published in 1914. Since that time considerable new material has come to light, some of which can be found in the excellent illustrated catalog by Yriarte⁵. Many aspects of mint activities at Potosí are described in the well documented monograph by Vignale, which follows events up to 1942.

SURVEY OF MEDIEVAL IBERIAN COINAGES

By

J. F. LHOTKA, LM 334 AND P. K. ANDERSON, LM 210

INTRODUCTION

MEDIEVAL Iberian coinages are probably one of the least known in the United States and at the same time constitute one of the simplest medieval series to understand.

Lack of interest in this group of coins is unfortunate since, with the exception of England, no other European nation played as important a part in the early history of this country than Spain. This is especially true in regard to our coinage system since the old Spanish eight real piece, better known to the American colonist as the Spanish milled dollar was the commonest form of hard money circulating in the colonies and in the early union. This coin, and its fractions, in fact, was legal tender in the United States until as late as 1857. Thus, it might be of interest to present to the American collectors a simple hand book on the Iberian coinages which preceded and gave form to the eight real piece. Such a work would have double value in acting first as a source of background material for those interested only generally in the subject and secondly as a beginner's source book for any collector who might wish to pursue the series in greater detail.

References on medieval Iberian coinages are not common in English and to the authors' knowledge, there has never been a text of any detail published on these coins in English. The bulk of the books available have all been either in Spanish or French except texts on medieval Portuguese coins which are practically all written in that language. This lack of reference books on medieval Iberian coins, both Spanish and Portuguese, has probably been a major factor in the lack of interest in them in the United States.

The standard reference on Spanish coins up to the reign of Isabella II (1833-1868) is the five volume set written by a Belgian engineer, Alois Heiss, in the latter half of the last century. One volume covers the coinages of ancient Spain, the Celt-Iberian, the colonial Greek, and the coins struck by the Romans referring to Spain in some manner. The second volume is concerned with the coinages of the Visigoths who succeeded the Romans in the Fifth Century as rulers of the peninsula. The last three books in the set cover the coinages of the "Spanish Christian Kings" (a term used by Heiss to differentiate these rulers by religion from the Moslem monarchs who ruled in southern Spain during much of the medieval period) from the first issues struck in the early Eleventh Century down to the coinages of Isabella II in the middle of the Nineteenth Century.

Heiss did not endeavor to include the Moslem series in his set. These references are extremely rare today and almost unobtainable. One set sold in 1958 for over four hundred dollars which should be some indication of its rarity. However, it is the standard work on Spain and probably the best one to date. In coming years, Heiss will probably be replaced by the series in preparation by the American Numismatic Society at the request of the Hispanic Society covering the coins in their cabinets. However, it will be many years before these texts are published and until that day, Heiss is the reference of choice.

Both authors are well known in the numismatic world. Dr. John F. Lhotka, Oklahoma City, Okla., is Associate Professor in the School of Medicine, University of Oklahoma. P. K. Anderson, Gotebo, Okla., a retired engineer, is a Governor of the American Numismatic Association.

There are, of course, other fine references on the Spanish medieval series and for the most part, these take the form of catalogs of great collections. One such catalog which was of real value in the preparation of this paper was the set by Pedrals y Moline on the collection of Manuel Vidal Quadras y Ramon published in 1892. Other references are included in the bibliography.

The Portuguese medieval series has probably even fewer references on it than the Spanish coinages and they are, for the most part, written in Portuguese. The principal work in this regard is that by Teixeira de Aragao which was published between 1874 and 1880. There are others but this work, although dated, is the primary reference.

General references on medieval coinages do have Iberian sections which are valuable. The work by Engel and Serrure, Traité de Numismatique du Moyen Age, issued in three volumes between 1891 and 1905 has an excellent description of the Spanish and Portuguese coinages. The discussion, however, is essentially academic and coin lists as such are not included. The set is still an invaluable reference. The huge collection of medieval coins described in Thomsen's Monnaies de Moyen Age (1873-1876) also includes a representative number of these issues but unfortunately, this book is only a coin list and it must be used in conjunction with other references. Certain gaps in the sequences must also be filled from other lists.

The coinage of four main medieval states is included in any study of the Iberian coinage from this period: Castile and Leon, Aragon, Navarre, and Portugal. In addition, certain feudal issues must be listed, such as the coins struck by the Counts of Barcelona. Then, if Heiss is to be followed, the coins struck by the Kings of Aragon for the many dependencies in the western Mediterranean area must be considered.

In general, these are the series which will be discussed in this paper. A fairly close adherence to the lines established by Heiss has been followed and, in fact, his numbers for coins are given when available. The coin lists and their accompanying historical outlines are preceded by general introductory remarks on the particular coinage involved. The historical outlines may be combined with or precede the coin lists depending on the importance of the series.

In the lists, a pattern is followed: 1) the obverse legend, 2) the type, 3) the reverse legend, 4) the reverse type, 5) the Heiss number and denomination of the coin listed. Occasionally the Heiss number (abbreviated as "H—") may not be available or appropriate. In such cases, the proper reference is cited. Thus Serrure numbers, Gil Farres, Blanchet and other authors will be given from time to time. Several sets of references numbers may sometimes be listed.

The paper is divided into six main sections. These are, in sequence: 1) the Kingdom of Castile and Leon; 2) Kingdom of Aragon and its immediate dependencies; 3) The coins struck by the Frankish kings in northern Spain, the "feudal series" including the coinages of the independent Counts of Barcelona; 4) the Aragonese coinages for their various dependencies in the western Mediterranean area, including Sicily and Naples; 5) the coinages of Navarre; 6) the medieval Portuguese series.

The first five sections have an over-all continuity with the same series of numbers continuing in the coin lists. The coins listed in the Portuguese section though, have been numbered separately. The authors felt that in as much as Portugal has remained free of the union of the other Iberian medieval nations (with a brief and unhappy exception during the period 1580 to 1640 when Portugal was incorporated into Spain) such an arrangement would better reflect the modern situation of two separate nations. The other Iberian states have all been incorporated into what is now Spain (with the exception of northern Navarre which is now in France) and so it is proper that they all be numbered in the same series. Frequent cross references, especially in the case of the rather complicated Aragonese coinages, are included in the numbering systems so that the reader can check back to previous series when necessary.

The term "medieval" is in many ways relative so it would probably be of value to indicate specifically the limits of the Iberian issues considered in this work. Castile and León and Aragon are studied from the beginnings of a Christian coinage during the "reconquest" in the Eleventh Century up to the union of the two nations with the marriage of Isabella of Castile and Ferdinand of Aragon in the late Fifteenth Century. The coinages of Ferdinand and Isabella are not considered. The coinage of Navarre is followed up to the acquisition of the nation by Ferdinand of Aragon in 1512. Navarre later regained its full independence but the bulk of the Spanish provinces had been lost to Spain and the kingdom was essentially French in scope.

The medieval coinage of Portugal is treated up to and including the reign of John II, a contemporary of Ferdinand and Isabella. John II is generally not considered as a medieval king by the Portuguese themselves since they feel that their nation passed out of its medieval period at the conclusion of the reign of Ferdinand I (1383). The period beginning with the reign of John I of Aviz which followed the two year interregnum is felt to be more correctly described as the Age of Discovery. This was the era during which the Portuguese explorers and merchants led by sailors like Vasco de Gama and encouraged by leaders of the stature of Prince Henry the Navigator carried the Portuguese flag throughout the world. They built a prosperous colonial empire that made little Portugal one of the wealthiest nations in Europe. Reis in his text, Precario das Moedas Portuguesas de 1140-1640, divides the period covered by this paper into three parts: the "Romantic" from the reign of Alfonso I to and including that of Alfonso IV, the "Gothic" from Peter I to and including the reign of Alfonso V, and the "Renaissance" covering the reigns from

John II to that of Antonio in 1583 (a Portuguese claimant to the throne after it has passed to Philip of Spain in 1580). In any case, the Iberian picture considered as a unit is more complete if the coinage of Portugal is taken to the reign of John II rather than if it was concluded one hundred years earlier with the reign of Ferdinand.

The Catalonian series of feudal coins is not affected by the arbitrary date of 1500 (accepted in the United States by many, including the American Numismatic Association, as the dividing date between the medieval and modern periods). Most of these minor feudal dominions had been passed into Aragon by the end of the Fourteenth Century and no longer struck coins.

It might be well to repeat that this paper has been based primarily on the work of Heiss as complemented by the catalog of the collection of Manuel Vidal Quadras y Ramon for the Spanish section. The data contained here is certainly not original and has been gleaned from these sources and others listed in the bibliography. When applicable, constructive comments have been made on the Heiss listings in the light of recent discoveries. The Portuguese section, conversely, is based on multiple sources since the authors did not have full access to a set of the main references on the series by Aragao. Many of the general texts on medieval coins including Thomsen, Engel and Serrure, and Blanchet were consulted and naturally such specific books as were available, such as Reis and Porto, were utilized to their fullest extent. Special comments on medieval Portugal by the Portuguese Embassy were naturally invaluable and did much to clarify certain aspects of the problem. However, without the assistance provided to the authors in the form of reprints, comments, and suggestions by the noted Portuguese numismatist Dr. Joaquim Ferraro Vaz of Lisbon there would be little merit in the Portuguese section of this paper.

A full list of the references, both numismatic, heraldic, and historical texts used to supplement the information, will be found in the bibliography.

The authors hope that in this paper they have assembled sufficient information so that the American collector may gain some insight into a series which had direct influence on our present coinage through its effects on the form of the later Spanish coinages which gave birth to the eight real piece or Spanish milled dollar.

NUMISMATIC IBERIAN HERALDRY

A common misconception regarding medieval numismatics is that it is necessary to possess a detailed knowledge of heraldry in order to understand properly the coins. Actually, this is far from the truth since the intricate armorial devices so frequently associated with the subject did not develop until the period of the Renaissance.

The devices used on medieval coins are actually quite simple, especially in the Iberian series. For example, the country of Leon adopted, quite naturally, the lion as its symbol and used the animal extensively on its coins. When Leon was united with Castile the lion continued to be used but now in combinations with the castle of Castile. Sometimes the Castilian symbol was used as the obverse type (as senior kingdom, the castle had precedence over the lion) while the lion occupied the reverse. On other occasions, the king's likeness was used as the obverse type and a shield or similar plaque with both the lion and castle together (quartered) formed the reverse face.

Portugal early adopted a shield bearing five pellets as the national symbol and as early as the reign of Sancho I. This type is usually in the form of a cross made from five such shields, becoming a standard reverse device on the dinheiro.

Consequently, heraldic knowledge, although certainly of value and interest, is not necessary to understand medieval Iberian coins. The various symbols found on these coins are obvious and easily understood with only minimal information. The terms "rampant" and "passant" when used in regard to the Leonese lion are about the only points that might need to be clarified. The lion is considered "rampant" when he is depicted standing upright with his forepaws raised, tail over back, and usually with one hind foot lifted from the ground. He is "passant" when shown walking, tail over back, usually with the right forepaw raised. These are the only two ways the Leonese lion is shown on the medieval issues of unified Castile and Leon. Independent Leon did strike some coins bearing exceptions to these forms (double lions, for example), but these are fully explained in the descriptive text and should not cause trouble. It is interesting to note that on the early coins, it did not appear to make any difference as to which direction the lion faced, but on the later coins the animal almost always faces the left in compliance with the developing rules of heraldry.

The symbolic devices adopted by the other Iberian countries are actually quite simple and once seen easily recognized again. Castile selected the castle, usually with three towers, as its device. Portugal adopted the five shields each bearing five pellets, the whole usually arranged as a cross. These three countries, Leon with its lion, Castile with its castle, and Portugal with its five pellet shield are the easiest of the heraldic forms to understand. Aragon and Navarre are slightly more complicated.

The arms of Aragon consisted of four red vertical bars on a field of gold (technically, "or, four pales gules") which appear on coins as seven vertical bars in either a shield or lozenge, often crowned. Oddly enough, this device was not used on the coins of Aragon proper until as late as the Fifteenth Century. The early kings used as a reverse a floral-based cross and later a double barred cross. During the Fourteenth Century, only gold was struck for Aragon proper imitative of the Italian florin with John the Baptist for the obverse and a large fleur-de-lys as the reverse type. The silver coins for domestic use were struck at Barcelona and utilized the standard Barcelona reverse type, alternating annulet and three pellets in the angles of a long cross. A bust of the king facing left was used on the obverse face. This type was used throughout the entire medieval period on coins issued from Barcelona. However, although the arms of Aragon were not used to any extent at home, they were extensively used on the coins of Aragonese foreign possessions. Peter III introduced a shield bearing the "bars" into Sicily and used it on the island's coinage as his obverse type. When the Aragonese entered southern Italy, the "bars" were quartered with other arms and used on the coins struck there as a standard reverse type. The coins of Valencia used the arms in a lozenge replacing the earlier floral cross.

The coins of the island of Majorca did not use the Aragonese arms as a principal type since the "Majorcan cross" had been standardized many years previously as the standard reverse. However, on occasion the "bars" in a lozenge were placed in the angles of the cross although scallop shells and cowries were more popularly used for this purpose. The coins of Sardinia struck by the Aragonese frequently used the arms as the obverse, sometimes in a shield and sometimes in a lozenge, but practically always surrounded by rosettes.

The heraldic types of Navarre are also somewhat more complicated than those of Castile, Leon, and Portugal. Initially the kings used a cross with a floral base similar to that of Aragon and later adopted an interesting reverse type consisting of a star over a crescent. When the throne passed to the Counts of Champagne, the "comb" of Champagne became the standard reverse type, usually in association with a crescent. The House of Evreux, which succeeded the House of Champagne, used essentially French type; the coins of Charles the Bad, probably the most noted of the group, are almost identical to those struck by the contemporary French kings with the fleur-de-lys, the floriate cross, and crowns being standard types in various combinations. The traditional arms of Navarre, a system of linked chains, appears on a few coins of Charles but this type did not become common until after the period covered by this paper. When the House of Aragon came into control of Navarre through the marriage of Blanca to John II of Aragon, the "bars" appear quartered with the "chains" on some issues. But with the return of Navarre to a French ruling house, that of the Counts of Foix, the coins regained the Gallic appearance although the "chains" are now quartered with the lilies of France used in the arms of Foix and later Albret. Navarre came back under the control of Aragon during the reign of Ferdinand II in 1512 and the standard reverse type became a crowned shield bearing the "chains" of Navarre but these issues are not medieval and are beyond the scope of this paper.

The heraldic types used on the coins struck by the various authorities in Catalonia, including the issues of the Carolingian Spanish Marches, the coins of the early independent Counts of Barcelona, the Bishops of Urgel, and the Counts of Ampurias, are fully described in the descriptive text. With the exception of the Barcelona issues these coins are very rare and any detailed discussion of their types would be strictly academic. The issues of Barcelona used the types discussed under Aragon with some minor variations in the very earliest issues.

Vincze Designs Lord Samuel's Medal

In the House of Lords recently, Lord Samuel was presented a large seven-inch bronze medal, designed by the noted medalist Paul Vincze, to mark the Viscount's ninetieth birthday. The obverse shows Lord Samuels, head left, and the numeral "90"; the reverse features a seated Socrates, with the legend AMICUS SOCRATES SED MAGIS AMICA VERITAS (Friend of Socrates but a greater friend of truth). Lord Samuel and Sir Winston Churchill are the only surviving members of the Asquith Government of 1906.

The medal is being struck for collectors in a two and a quarter inch size, in bronze at $6.00, silver at $12.50, nine carat gold (25 pieces) at $98.00; eighteen carat gold (15) at $225.00, twenty-two carat gold (10) at $325.00. Presentation cases, if desired, are $1.50 extra. The medalist's studio is at 5 Rossetti Studios, Flood St., Chelsea, London, SW 3.

CIVIL WAR TOKENS

After the suspension of specie payments the regulation of the coinage did not much concern Congress for nearly a dozen years. The weight and composition of the cent were changed; two, three, and five cent pieces were added to the list of coins; and persons were to be heavily fined or imprisoned, or both, who should make issue or pass "any coin, card, token, or device whatsoever in metal or its compounds." Such a punitive measure had become needful in consequence of the large quantities of bogus devices that were circulated as substitutes for the one cent pieces. They were of the same size as the legal cent, contained no nickel, averaged about fifty-one grains in weight, and were worth "not more than one-fifth of a cent." Not less than three hundred varieties of these false and illegal tokens or cents were made and issued during the Civil War period. — Albert S. Bolles: The Financial History of the United States, 1886, III, 373.

DR. GEORGE F. HEATH

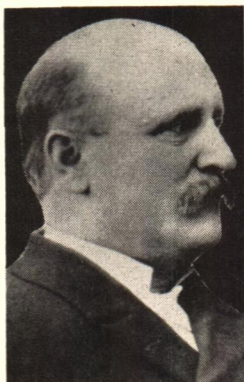

Second President

By

JACK W. OGILVIE, LM 93, HISTORIAN

Dr. George F. Heath, Founder and Second President

An entire book could be written about the life of the founder and second President of our Association, George Francis Heath, A.N.A. Number One. The organization can truly be called the good Doctor's baby. He not only conceived it but later brought it into the world, nursed it as an infant and reared it to its teens. Most of us are familiar with the story of his struggles to get the Association started but his life prior to this period is somewhat obscure.

George Heath was born in Warsaw, N. Y., September 21, 1850. He started working after school hours as a clerk in his uncle's pharmacy when he was fourteen years old and at twenty was in the postal service. After six years he returned to the drug business but shortly thereafter sold out and entered the University of Michigan to study medicine. Upon graduation he became surgeon and resident physician in charge of the University Hospital. In June, 1884 he resigned and started general practice at Monroe, Mich., a small town southwest of Detroit, where he resided the rest of his life.

Heath began collecting coins and stamps at the age of thirteen. The years he spent as a drug clerk and as postmaster whetted his appetite for larger collections and more information about both hobbies. He also collected minerals, Indian relics, autographs of famous people and his library at an early date exceeded a thousand volumes. In an 1891 autobiography he revealed "When not engaged in relieving afflicted humanity, amputations and other kindred amusements, he devotes his time to the serious business of his collections and The Numismatist."

He began publishing this now historic magazine in October, 1888. Early issues were four-page leaflets slightly smaller than their present-day counterpart. Heath personally set the odd looking type, ran the hand press and mailed out the finished product. The reading matter was interesting notes on numismatics of that time and the ads were his own pertaining to duplicate coins he had for sale.

Dr. Heath was most certainly an energetic man. Not only did he carry on his practice of medicine, raise a family, edit The Numismatist, build his collections and dispose of his duplicates but in 1890 got into politics and was elected to office. Shortly thereafter he wrote "There is occasionally a letter sent to the Mayor of our city by some doubting Thomases inquiring as to our reliability. Now we don't object to this, but we fear our friends will not be doing themselves justice in a way, for they are apt to get a prejudiced reply; for, fortunately or unfortunately, we happen to be the Mayor of the city of Monroe."

Yes, the doctor was quite a humorist. He once erroneously printed a Chinese character upside down. When this was called to his attention he replied "We expressly stated that that number was a cater to our subscribers in China. . . . Our 'Melican' readers can obviate the difficulty in either of two ways, by turning the paper or themselves bottom side up." When a second such error occurred, he dismissed it with "it is needless to state that our Chinese compositor has been discharged."

He wanted to get fun out of life and yet give to his fellow collectors all of the pleasures he obtained from numismatics. It was, without doubt, this last deliberation which prompted his strenuous efforts to organize a national association for collectors who were isolated from clubs in the larger cities. This organization he appropriately named the American Numismatic Association. As he so philosophically stated "There is nothing like the alliance of kindred pursuits to stimulate interest and growth."

Although only forty-one on that historic day in October, 1891, in Chicago, he insisted that younger men be placed at the helm of the new organization and it was only when young Jerrems rejected a second term that Heath was elected President of the A.N.A. and served two yearly terms. Prominent numismatists who joined the organization during his administrations were: D. C. Wismer, famous for his series of attributions of broken bank bills; George W. Rice, one-time Secretary, writer and noted collector reputed to have amassed over seven hundred 1856 Flying Eagle cents! Others were: Major Adan Smith, a writer from India; William Studebaker of auto fame; Carl Wurtzbach who attained the Presidency in 1917; Howard R. Newcomb, an authority on large cents; Dealers George C. Arnold and B. H. Collins who were also writers. Mrs. Mary O. Mills and Mrs. Lucy Heath, the first two women members, and Arthur B. Stewart also enrolled at that time. A total of two hundred fourteen persons had joined by August 1894 and the organization was running smoothly. This prompted Heath to decline a third term and relinquish the high office to August G. Heaton.

The Numismatist became the official publication at the start of the Doctor's term. When Heaton took over, our founder was content with editing the magazine as his only official duty. The years from 1894 to 1898 were very trying and an almost disastrous period for the still young organization as will be revealed in later biographies. During the summer of 1898 a group of the old guard, feeling that only the Doctor could prescribe the proper elixir for its ills, reelected him President in a mail ballot. Again, he declined the high office in favor of Joseph Hooper. He did, however, accept the post of Secretary, put his shoulder to the wheel and help start the A.N.A. on a course never again to be headed. Regardless of the office he held or his vocational interests, the congenial Heath always found time to discuss his avocation with fellow collectors, either by letter, in person or through the pages of our magazine.

As Editor and Publisher of The Numismatist from 1888 until 1908 he wrote many articles and papers. Noteworthy among these were "The Centennial of United States Coinage," "The Coins of Republican Rome," "Utilities of Hobbies" and many others, including "Oriental Types in Coins." He also conducted chatty columns "With the Editor" and "Numismatic Tabloids" as well as short articles on many phases of numismatics. During these twenty years, this man was, indeed, a human dynamo propelled by the desire to share his knowledge of the hobby he loved so dearly.

Our founder was also somewhat of a seer for he predicted of his new organization "Tall oaks from little acorns grow" . . . the field is wide and rich and the harvest sure." The benevolent Dr. Heath did not live to see his fondest dream come true for he died in June, 1908, with only about a thousand persons having entered the fold.

In January of 1911 the A.N.A. issued a memorial medal in his honor. During the summer of 1925 a memorial fund was raised for a suitable marker for his final resting place. Those present at the Detroit convention in August of that year attended memorial services at Woodlawn Cemetery in Monroe and dedicated a monument with an appropriately inscribed bronze plaque embellished with the bronze and silver memorial medals. The awards given each year for articles published in The Numismatist are now properly termed the Heath Literary Awards as a memorial to its first Editor and Publisher. But the greatest memorial to this man of many virtues, who founded our organization, is the American Numismatic Association itself — the largest society in the world dedicated to advancing the science and study of numismatics. A number of years ago the late Farran Zerbe commended him by using the phrase "He builded better than he knew."

Notes & Queries

From A Reader Of Numismatic Vignettes

Dear Sir:

Taking my cue from the phrases "to make sense or cents" and "collect what others don't," I wish to mention the two reals coins of independent Mexico. These are listed in the third edition of Yeoman's Catalogue of Modern World Coins as S23, 1825-69, and priced at 30¢, actually less than the listing in the 1916 edition of Scott's Gold and Silver Coins of the World. Considering the issue from fourteen different mints, the possibility of rarities soon becomes apparent. This is borne out by only forty-five varieties being listed in the Guttag collection of Latin American coins, the last being dated 1868 and issued from the Mexico City mint.

In my own small collection there is a two reals piece showing the legend of the Alamos mint: 2R A 1872 AM 10 Ds 20 Gs. Not finding any mention of a two reals piece dated after 1869, I checked Henry Christensen's catalog of Silver Dollars of Independent Mexico. He lists an 1872 eight reals coin issued from the Alamos mint and rates it as very rare. This rating would seem to apply to all issues of eight reals pieces of the years 1870-72, and might explain why there are no two-reals coins listed for those years.

Considering the great amount of research done on the early issues of two reals coins and the important part they played in our country's early history, it hardly seems probable that there is any question of the date of the last issue. I am wondering if some student of this series can shed some light on this subject.

Schulman-Kreisberg's Annual Waldorf Auction

The Schulman-Kreisberg organization have released its magnificent catalog of the February 16, 17 and 18 sale at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. The yearly event at the Waldorf always creates a sort of convention atmosphere in the Park Avenue Suite, but this year with the $20 gold 1907 high relief and the four types of stellas, the platinum rarities, numerous U.S. rarities in gold and silver, seven hundred foreign gold rarities and the nine hundred silver dollars of the world, it is expected to attract leading numismatists of many areas.

Catalogs are available from either Hans M. F. Schulman, 545 Fifth Ave., New York 17, or Abner Kreisberg, 228 N. Beverly Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal.

New Coin Firm

Under the name of Metropolitan Coin Co., 3012 Joshua Rd., Lafayette Hill, Pa., Lynn Glaser and Paul Weinstein have joined the ranks of coin dealers. They expect to "deal exclusively in choice, rare American material—no rolls, popular sets, key coins, etc."

Proof "Celestons" Being Struck

James T. Mangan, 3600 W. Ninety-sixth St., Evergreen Park 42, Ill., announces he is striking 275 gold "celestons" in proof and bearing the date 1961. The piece weighs thirty-four grains, is of gold .900 fine and 9/16ths inches in diameter.

The Federal Government And Coin Collectors

To The Numismatist:

Why your detachment in reporting seizure of the silver cent on page 1500 of the October Numismatist, and again on page 1641 of the November issue? Do you really think it is just for the secret service to confiscate these coins? It is possible that some government official should decide that all coins minted before 1950 should be seized by the secret service.

And just what is wrong with profit? On page 1641, November issue, Glenn S. says the Treasury officials are not happy to condone the making of big profits quickly on the products of the Mint and Bureau of Engraving and Printing. The government officials are our public servants and their happiness should not be considered in such cases. Let's have a Supreme court decision on the matter. We might start by demanding Nowak's silver cent returned to him. Glenn S. also speaks of the unwritten rights of a branch of the Federal Government, let's define some rights of the citizens.

— JOHN JONES
Gladstone, Ore.

[Editor's note: Commenting on your questions, we fail to see the "detachment" in the two items to which you refer. Nor do we indicate it is "just" for the secret service to seize off-metal coins. We merely report the facts.

Nor do we object to "profit," if within the law. We do say, however, that the Bureaus of the Mint and of Engraving and Printing justifiably feel that their products (coins and paper money) are meant primarily to provide a circulating medium. Any other uses of coins and paper currency are purely incidental.

If the making of "big profits" brings about hoarding of current coins and hampers business, Mint officials have every right to be "unhappy." It is a certainty that you, along with the rest of us, would complain most bitterly if we should have another round of "small change shortage" such as the country experienced many times in its history.

Before we could get a Supreme Court ruling on confiscation of off-metal coins or other monies, it would be necessary for a collector to be the victim of a seizure and for him to take the matter to court. No one else can do that for him. If lower courts decided against him, he might take his case to the highest court but he would have to have both the will and the cash to carry his appeals. A long time might elapse before the final opinion was handed down.

All is not lost, however. The meeting of the Director and Assistant Director of the Mint with the A.N.A. President and Vice President is a step in the right direction (See page 1786, December, 1960, Numismatist). Mutual understandings of the problems and a cooperative spirit to achieve solutions augur well for the future. — EGB]

Boston Convention

Dear Mr. Bradfield:

After reading about the Boston A.N.A. convention in the November Numismatist, I feel I must write you. Your wife, Mrs. Jean Bradfield, wrote a splendid account of this convention, but only the good parts.

Very few people knew who had the prize exhibits due to the fact that the exhibit room had to be closed by 1:00 Saturday afternoon. In fact, many exhibitors took out their displays early in the morning. Both the exhibit and bourse rooms were closed at this time. Many people who came up Saturday and there were many, were treated to a closed exhibit and closed bourse. Not all of us are fortunate enough to have vacations or be able to take the time to fit into the A.N.A. schedule. I know of two members of the Brooklyn Coin Club who came by bus Saturday morning, paid the registration and banquet fees but got nothing out of the convention. Many dealers left Saturday instead of staying for the banquet. As I had my two children along, I was able to purchase two tickets from dealers, though I must thank Mr. Clapp who granted a cut price for children at the dinner.

I also believe that every woman who attends a convention, especially an A.N.A. affair, should have a door prize, not only a few. Those silver bowls were beautiful, to be sure, but only three winners. I also do not agree with a twelve or fourteen piece orchestra, half of that amount would be sufficient, and they should be paid enough to remain on stage until the last performer is finished, not walk off in the middle of the last act, and leave the poor fellow to close the show.

Aside from a few other complaints, we all enjoyed ourselves. Incidentally, the charming little girl who went on the stage, and helped make the ventriloquist act a huge success is my daughter Amy Beth Schuman. We wish to thank Mrs. Bradfield for bringing her into her article.

[Editor's note: It is impossible to obtain every concession from convention hotels that General Chairmen would like. As you probably know, with business booming as it has since World War II, any meetings or conventions of size must be booked years in advance. Sometimes the desired accommodations cannot be had because of conflicting dates with other groups and some compromise becomes necessary. Every A.N.A. convention General Chairman and his committees have worked actively for at least two years on their assignment and do the best they can under a given set of circumstances.

Incidentally, there are many, including the Editor, who feel it is unnecessary to entice people to our conventions with door prizes. The first numismatic convention anywhere to register over a thousand attendants was the 1956 A.N.A. convention in Chicago — and no one received a door prize.]

Another U. S. Note With Offset Impression

Dear Editor:

The illustration of a $1 silver certificate in "Numismatic Vignettes" in last November's Numismatist prompts me to show a Series 1950A $5 Federal Reserve note which I obtained recently. It is a fine example of the black obverse of a note being transferred to the reverse, whereas the $1 previously shown had the green reverse offset on the obverse. Of course, serial numbers, seals and signatures do not show on the offset because they are not engraved in the face side plate, being printed separately.

The friend from whom this note was obtained got six similar notes from his bank about eight years ago, but spent four of them before realizing what he had. The serial number of this note is L75965324A. I wonder if any of the four which he spent got into the hands of collectors.

Offset errors are described in some detail, but Mr. Philpott erred in stating that "Offset inking always shows on the back of the note."]

European States Issuing Dollar Size Coins

By

DR. JOHN S. DAVENPORT, LM 44

WHILE the dollar-size coins of the world have apparently always enjoyed much popularity and continue to be favorites with collectors, no attempt, so far as I know, has been made to bring together a list of all the states which have issued such pieces with the dates of their issuance. They go back only to 1486, which, numismatically speaking, is not far. Yet so numerous have they been, so obscure in many instances, and so little investigated in certain areas that even to make a tentative list of the issuers presents considerable difficulties. A good book, now unfortunately out of print, exists on the dollars of the Americas, and there is a monograph on the dollars of Africa. A list of similar pieces from Asia and Oceanica is in the process of serial publication.

Here is a catalog of all the states of Europe which have issued such pieces with the earliest and latest dates which have come to my attention. The undated pieces have presented a problem. Where these exist earlier or later than the dated coins indicated, an asterisk (*) has been inserted before or after the date or dates. Where only undated coins exist these are indicated by n.d.

Since this list is highly tentative, and since I am desirous of producing something definitive, I am frankly appealing for suggestions, corrections, additions, anything which might give me further information, develop new leads, or establish sounder bases for a permanent catalog.

I have followed an alphabetical plus a geographical organization.

The most difficult problem was the handling of the Holy Roman Empire. Here I have split off as much geographically as I could. The Austrian, Hungarian, Bohemian estates, princes, and Church rulers have been separated although the Silesian duchies, etc. remain under Germany. Alsace and the Tyrol, since they had some rulers who were Austrian archdukes only, have been distinguished from the other Habsburg lands. The Lowlands have also been removed and divided between the Spanish and Austrian ruled and the independent provinces. Under these three headings will be found not only the provinces but independent secular and Church rulers who are geographically associated.

The Holstein issues have also been divided, some under Denmark and others under Germany. Some principalities and cities which eventually became a part of France are listed under it. The various parts which finally amalgamated into modern Italy and modern Switzerland are grouped together under those headings. Certain dependencies of Poland are included there. In Germany, largely for the sake of convenience, I have made three categories: the secular rulers; the Church rulers; and the free cities, imperial or otherwise, and towns which issued talers. Where many coins were involved I have broken down a single state or family into its various lines. In other cases, such as Nassau, where there are numerous lines but often only a few dates, I have merely indicated the number of lines involved and lumped the dates.

Dr. John S. Davenport, Galesburg, Ill. is a professor at Knox College. He is the author of several standard books on dollar size coins of the world, including European Crowns Since 1800, German Talers Since 1800, German Talers 1700-1800.

Attributions have frequently been rather arbitrary, and in cases like Troppau-Teschen-Liechtenstein, Croy-Chimay-Megen, and others, when a coin seems to have been overlooked, it may appear under another category. There is some confusion, also, I am afraid, between talers and gulden talers, gulden groschen, etc. In general I have tried to confine the list to talers of seventy-two kreuzer equivalent.

Seventieth Annual A.N.A. Convention

ATLANTA IN 1961

For the second time in American Numismatic Association history, it will hold a convention in the Southland. In 1953 the site was Dallas, Texas; in 1961, it is Atlanta, Ga. Southern members of the Association have waited a long time to show their colleagues of the East, North and West what true hospitality is and now have this opportunity to do so. The date? August 16 to 19, 1961.

A team of devoted Atlanta numismatists has been organized with George M. Todd, 106 W. Paces Ferry Rd., N.W., Atlanta, as General Chairman. A.N.A. member since 1939, he attended the Boston convention of last year along with a delegation from the Atlanta Coin Club to gain an insight into the workings of national convention committees. The addition of imagination and enthusiasm of Atlanta club members assures a winning combination.

In charge of exhibit arrangements is Philip S. Reed, P. O. Box 234, Atlanta 1. Bourse space applications go to Robert J. Rooks, 2338 Beecher Circle, S.W., Atlanta 11.

See you in Atlanta?

THE INAUGURAL MEDAL

An official inaugural medal is struck every four years to commemorate the inauguration of the President of the United States. The medal is an official inaugural souvenir.

One medal is struck in gold and presented to the President. This year silver replicas were struck and serially numbered from one to seven thousand five hundred. Numbers one to ten were reserved for members of the new President's Cabinet. It is expected that approximately twenty thousand bronze medals will be struck. Size is 2 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches.

Paul Manship, designer of the 1961 medal, met twice with then President Elect John F. Kennedy to work on the portrait. Mrs. John F. Kennedy was consulted by the Medal Design Committee on both the design and patina of the medal.

The first official inaugural medal was struck in 1901 for the second inauguration of President McKinley. The custom of striking a medal to commemorate the inauguration of a President is the outgrowth of badges that were presented to the inaugural committee members and a gold badge that was presented to the President.

Obverse

Since the inauguration of President Hoover the replicas in bronze and silver have been made available to the public by popular demand. The value of these replicas has increased to such an extent that some of the early bronze medals are worth many times their original cost.

THE DESIGN

The design of the 1961 inaugural medal is traditional in that its face bears only a profile portrait of President John F. Kennedy, and his name. On the reverse is the Presidential seal, which is making its first appearance on an inaugural medal. Previously, the seal of the United States has been used on medals. Only in 1909 and 1957 did the inaugural medals bear portraits of both the President and Vice President.

THE PRESIDENTIAL SEAL

The Presidential seal, which appears on the 1961 inaugural medal, was originated during the administration of President Rutherford Hayes. Apparently, it was an erroneous rendering of the Great Seal of the United States. Until 1945, during the administration of President Truman, the eagle in the Presidential seal faced its own left in contrast to heraldic custom. President Truman ordered that in the future the eagle face its own right and the olive branches held in its right talon as a symbol of peace. The stars circling the eagle represent the states of the Union, and now number fifty. No single star represents any particular state.

THE PRESIDENT

President John F. Kennedy was born May 29, 1917, the second of nine children of Joseph P. Kennedy and Rose Fitzgerald Kennedy. He was married on September 12, 1953, to Jacqueline Lee Bouvier at Newport, R. I. They have a daughter, Caroline, born on November 27, 1957, and a son, John F., Jr., born November 25, 1960.

THE ARTIST

The 1961 inaugural medal is the second such medal to be designed by Sculptor Paul Manship. His first inaugural medal was for Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1933 with the ship of state on the back.

Manship, often referred to as the dean of American sculptors, is a noted lecturer and teacher and was born in St. Paul, Minn., on Christmas Eve, 1885. He studied art in his native city as a boy and later at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. At twenty-three he won a scholarship of the American Academy in Rome, Italy, where he worked for three years.

He has executed many monuments, garden sculptures, portrait busts, relief sculptures and medals, and is a contributor to the Encyclopedia Britannica on "The History of Sculpture." He has been awarded many medals of honor, among which are the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and the Medal of Honor of the National Sculpture Society. He is Chevalier of the French Legion of Honor and a corresponding member of the Institute of France; also of the National Academy of Fine Arts of Argentina and the National Academy of San Luca of Italy. He is honorary President of the National Sculpture Society, Past President of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and the Century Association of New York. He is chairman of the Smithsonian Commission of Fine Arts.

His principal works are in Cochran Memorial Park, St. Paul; Fort Wayne, Ind.; Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Academy in Rome; American Military Cemetery, Thiaucourt, France; American Military Cemetery, Anzio, Italy; Brookgreen Gardens, Salmagundi Club, New York; Zoölogical Park, New York; Philips Academy, Andover, Mass.; Rockefeller Center, New York; League of Nations, Geneva, Switzerland; Norton Gallery of Art; University of Florida; and Coliseum, New York City.

Bids were taken for the production of the 1961 inaugural medal and the contract for manufacture of the medal was awarded to Medallic Art Company of New York. The company has been described as the foremost firm of medalists in the United States. Distribution is being handled by Coin and Currency, Inc., of New York, except in the Washington area where the Inaugural Medal Committee has reserved rights for distribution.

National Coin Week publicity points may be gathered from posters, radio, television, newspaper or periodical items of numismatic nature — and perhaps even from balloons, sky writing, etc. For instance, stories that could be counted for points might appear in the 1,854 daily newspapers, or the 39 tri-weeklies, 324 semiweeklies, 8,979 weeklies, 33 fortnightlies, 30 semimonthlies, 49 monthlies, 3 bimonthlies or four miscellaneous publications of the United States. It is possible that printed publicity in 8,422 American periodicals will count or that certain items in specialized publications might help swell the total points. There is, of course, a limitation as to the timing of these printed items in that publication should be within the "Week" itself or very closely tied thereto. For most club and individual competitors, the best results are obtained close to home on local radio or TV stations or local newspapers. One of the major purposes of NCW is to spread the word of the advantages of coin collecting to our friends and neighbors in our own communities. — EGB

Club News

Club Publications

The Editor and his assistant receive quite a few news publications issued by clubs primarily for the benefit of their own members. They vary from a single mimeographed sheet to offset printed pamphlets containing illustrations and numismatic articles. Both individually and collectively they represent the expenditure of a lot of effort, if not much money, and we believe them to be of considerable value in furthering the members' interest in their clubs.

We read and appreciate them — occasionally we pick up a news item of general interest to readers of THE NUMISMATIST. However, since they usually stress local news, and serve as notices for club meetings in the immediate future, they cannot serve as items for the "Club News" section. Clubs having problems or questions about getting their meetings reported in this section should request a form letter which gives information and suggestions on this subject. Just a memo or post card to the Editor will get you a copy of the letter by return mail.

"The time has come," said the general chairman to members of the Greater Houston Coin Club, "to put the final touches on our arrangements for the Texas Numismatic Association spring convention." So being said, it has been done and as host we say to all "Our house is ready and we invite you to be with us at the Shamrock-Hilton Hotel in Houston April 7-9." Our committee chairmen make these comments: Bill Miller, bourse tables, "We are limiting the number of dealers because we want to help you have a profitable visit." Norman Smith, exhibit chairman, "Every phase of numismatics is going to be featured — even mechanical banks." Ladies committee, "We are looking forward to getting acquainted with each of you, and have a place staked out where you can kick off your shoes and really be at home." [Editor's note: men, they didn't say this is for ladies only.] We all say, "Wouldn't it be just too bad if you miss our show and then hear it was the best ever?" Should you desire further information, please contact A. I. Martin, 5609 Chaucer, Houston 5, Texas. —DORIS MARTIN, Sec.

The Austin (Minn.) Coin and Stamp Club held its combined annual meeting and Christmas party in the Community Room of the Sterling State Bank on December 6. Officers for 1961 were elected as follows: president, Don Kinney; vice presidents, Harvey Peters and Charles Robinson; secretary, Elmore Greening; treasurer, Don Hanzlicek; historian, Mrs. Marjory Creegan; and librarian, Harvey Holtz. Our roster includes seventy-seven members from Austin and seven surrounding communities. Following the meeting, gifts were exchanged and lunch served from a decorated table amid festive surroundings. — ELMORE GREENING, Sec.

There was a turnout of about a hundred at the 503rd meeting of Chicago Coin Club on December 14. The election of officers for 1961 resulted as follows: president, Hugh M. Knight; first vice president, Michael M. Dolnick; second vice president, Nathan N. Eglit; secretary-treasurer, I. T. Kopicki; governors, Harry Flower, S. T. Genualdi and Glenn B. Smedley. There was considerable discussion on the proposition to hold a two or three day convention type affair in 1961, but no decision was reached. There were several fine exhibits, and the ladies served coffee and cookies for the enjoyment of all. — MRS. JUDY SABEL, Sec-Treas.

The November 22 meeting of Utah Numismatic Society at the Murray B. Allen Blind Center was attended by forty six persons. President Dean announced that Ruth Zastrow has donated to the club library the bound volumes of The Numismatist from 1951 to 1959. These were from Fred Zastrow's collection and it is his daughter's thought that he would have wanted them in the club library. Dean told us of his pleasant experiences at the M.A.N.A. convention in November, attended while he was on a business trip to Washington, D.C. It seems that he enjoyed the convention, but he was especially pleased to find members of Washington Numismatic Society very gracious to visitors, and expressed the hope that we can be as friendly to our visitors. At a recent meeting, the directors decided that the Society's coin collection should be known as the Fred Zastrow Memorial Collection, in honor of the first curator. Present curator Dave Sugden plans to reassemble and mount the coins for display as a unit. This reminds us that the 1960 proof set donated by Bob Glade turned out, upon recent examination, to be the so-called small date variety, making Bob's gift worth some $20 instead of the original $3. The directors also voted to donate $25 worth of gifts to each of the two children's hospitals in Salt Lake City. This donation is made possible by the Society's summer project of selling $2 notes autographed by Ivy Baker Priest. — The Utah Mintmaster, C. E. CRANE, Ed.

Being a relatively timid youngster, the City of Lakes Coin Club kept its first open house to a local level but was pleased with an attendance of one hundred and fifty persons between noon and 9 p.m. on December 4. It was held in the Meissner Room of the Y.M.C.A. in LaPorte, Ind., and had a nineteen-case exhibit, including an Indian Head cent set valued at $1,200 and owned by a South Bend attorney. Exhibit award winners were Tom Nolan, Mrs. Frank Darst, James Kelley, Rod Stearns and John Thresh. A.N.A. slide sets "Odds and Ends of Coinage Spurious and Real" and "Famous Women on Coins and Medals" were shown in the afternoon by Tom Nolan. An auction in the evening was conducted by W. W. Luitje of St. Joseph, Mich. This Club was organized last May with seven members and has grown to thirty at the time of the open house. — DUNCAN A. STEVENS, Pres.

On December 1, 1960 the Delaware County Coin Club of Chester, Penna. held its annual banquet. The high-lights of the evening were the presentation by George Cucore of a gavel and sounding block made from timbers salvaged from the original Philadelphia Mint, and the presentation of engraved plaques to William C. Boston and President John Harrison, Jr., recognizing their faithfulness and diligent service to the club. — JOHN D. ROBERTS, V. P.

The Key City Coin Club held its meeting and elected officers for 1961 on December 1 in the Windsor Hotel, Abilene, Texas. Those elected are: Bob Nunnally, president; W. A. Henley, first vice president; Mrs. Beth Geiger, second vice president; Mrs. W. O. Dodd, Jr., secretary-treasurer. The death of Mrs. Jim Johnston, wife of one of our charter members, was observed by a minute of silence. Following the meeting, coffee and cake was served by four of the lady members in observance of our fiftieth monthly meeting. — L. R. GOODWIN

At its December meeting in the YWCA Building, the San Jose Coin Club elected the following for 1961: president, Denis N. Hooker; vice president, Rudy Gjurovich; junior vice president, Barry Wagman; secretary, Mrs. Lillian M. Hooker; treasurer, Myrthine Robinson; corresponding secretary, Norman Prunier; librarian-historian, Dorothy Beaulieu; and board members, John Cobb, Al Mandel and John Serpa. This club, which holds its meetings the first Monday evening monthly, has in its membership many who are prominent in national and state numismatic groups. It initiated the Coast Counties Coin Carnival which is now sponsored by six California clubs. — DENIS N. HOOKER, Pres.

The Coast Counties Coin Carnival will be held this year in the Civic Auditorium in Santa Cruz, Cal., under the sponsorship of San Jose Coin Club, Santa Cruz Coin Club, Pajaro Valley Coin Club, Discoverer Coin Club, and Peninsula Coin Club. Dates are May 5 and 6, 1961. It will feature displays from many outstanding collectors, bourse tables of prominent dealers, a three hundred fifty lot auction split into the two days, and door prizes which will include a $350 gold type set. The location is just a stone's throw from the famous "Board Walk" and scenic "Carmel by the Sea." Co-chairmen are Eldon Beaulieu and Denis Hooker; display chairman is George Hodges; bourse chairman is Wendell Hooker, 930 "C" St., Hayward, Cal.; the secretary is Mrs. Lillian M. Hooker, 1930 Park Ave., San Jose. Bourse tables are only $10 for both days. — LILLIAN M. HOOKER, Sec.

Mrs. Louise Graham conducted the November 26 meeting of Toronto Coin Club in the absence of President Wilkinson. Officers for 1961, as chosen by the nominating committee, were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Louise Graham, vice president, R. Blake Graham, secretary, Miss Kathleen Richards; treasurer, F. C. Jewett; librarian, Harvey Farrow; directors, A. Lavine, H. A. Craig and Mrs. Retta Frampton. It is with sadness and awareness of our loss that we report the recent death of member G. Ross Workman, and extend our sympathy to Mrs. Workman and the family. — CHARLES KIRK, Sec.

Another new and fast-growing club in North Carolina is the Jacksonville Coin Club. Organized last June, it has over forty members at the year end and meets the first Monday evening monthly at the Jack Amyette Recreation Center. Many Marines from Camp Lejeune Marine Corps Base are members. Displays and an auction are held at each meeting, and visitors are welcomed. Officers of the Club are: president, Orville Mitchell; vice president, James Dilkey; secretary, E. D. Bedwell; treasurer, Robert Johnson. — WALTER F. ROGERS, Publ. Chm.

Allen and Mrs. Anderson were hosts in their home to the November meeting of the North Dakota Coin Club. A showing of the "Famous Women on Coins and Medals" set of slides from the A.N.A. Visual Education Committee was enjoyed at this meeting. Dr. R. M. Berg exhibited a Chinese money tree, a small date 1960 proof set and some large size National Bank notes. — HELEN L. MANGSKAU, Sec.

The twenty-first meeting of Shidler Coin Club was held November 29 in the home of J. C. and Mrs. Nelson, with six members present. We enjoyed the interesting program given by junior member George Singleton, Jr. and are proud that our juniors take an active interest in the Club. Another junior member, Buddy Curnutt, will give the program at the next meeting on January 24 in the M. E. Brown home. — MRS. BESSIE NELSON, Sec.

[Editor's note: We believe that this Club proves that a large membership is not a prerequisite to being a successful club. Large membership and attendance do indicate growth and interest, which clubs should strive for, but they also create problems and detract from the friendly atmosphere, which all clubs should seek, also.]

The Marion (Ind.) Coin Club will hold a show March 12, 1961, from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the 4-H grounds about half a mile east of Marion on Route 18. Admission and parking will be free. Plaques, trophies and ribbons will be awarded for exhibits. Fifty bourse tables are available. For further information write to Glen J. David, 220 W. Massey St., Marion, Ind. — ANDREW PETELL, Pres.

Leddy, second vice president; Mrs. Mable Casey, secretary; J. B. Andrews, treasurer. Club correspondence should be directed to the secretary, 112 N. Van Buren, San Angelo. — E. H. BROOKS, Pres.

Attendance at the November 27 meeting of Evansville (Ind.) Coin Club was about one hundred and twenty-five. Bob Suhrheinrich gave an excellent talk on "Coins of Colonial America," augmented with the fine A.N.A. slides on this subject. Booklets about these coins were awarded to Don Ruedlinger and Stanley Meyers, completing the program commemorating the pioneers and their first Thanksgiving. William Pukall displayed colonial American coins in the "Exhibit of the Month." Duane Holderage, 13, gave an interesting talk on the Mercury dime. Bex Trimble recited a poem entitled "The World Is Mine," which contained many ideals for numismatists. These short programs in conjunction with our monthly feature, "My Favorite Coin," are very popular. It was announced that Peter Payne of San Bernardino, Cal., will conduct the auction at the third annual convention of the Indiana State Numismatic Association, to be held May 19-21 in Evansville.

The feature of the Christmas meeting on December 18 was the presentation of "Numismatists of the Year" awards to Sterling S. Harrison, Dr. Charles F. Leich and William Pukall. These men were chosen by members of the Club on the basis of outstanding services to the Club, quality of their personal collections, and their interest in numismatics in general. Each received a gold cup with his name inscribed on it. The Club will keep the plaque donated by People's Savings Bank, on which the winners' names were inscribed. Dr. Leich is president and Sterling Harrison is treasurer of our Club. The evening was concluded with a Christmas party during which refreshments were served and many prizes given. — MARIE T. GASS, Sec.

The Louisville (Ky.) Coin Club fall festival, held November 19-20 in the Henry Clay Hotel, showed over fourteen hundred registered attendance and was proclaimed the best show in the Club's seven years. The fifteen bourse dealers from five states proved their satisfaction by asking for reservation for the next show to be held by the Club in April or May, 1961. Members' exhibits with a total value of about $100,000 contributed greatly to the show's success and to securing eleven new members. Two hundred feet of table space was utilized for exhibits of practically all classes of numismatic items. Some of the choice items and exhibits were: an 1896 quarter in Ex.F. condition, by Charlie Logsdon; a round $50 gold piece and many rare Confederate notes, by Carl Dellmuth; 1936-1960 proof sets, by Henry Cary; crowns of the world and a large collection of Confederate and obsolete bank notes and fractional currency, by Roy Davis. We were especially proud of fifty feet of Junior members' displays which won three of the six trophies. Best-in-show award went to Roy Davis for his outstanding paper money display, which also won first in the paper money class. First in U.S. coins went to C. John McDonald for coins in plastic cases, including gold, type coins, proof sets and small cents. The best foreign exhibit award, and also the best Junior exhibit award, was won by Jamie Davis for his map-of-the-world coins. The most unusual exhibit award went to Ned Bass for his unique horn of plenty coin display. Lt. O. H. Walters, Club president, attributes the success of the show to the members' interest in spreading the word, mailings to over seven hundred collectors, and especially to the publicity obtained by Col. R. K. Walker in local newspapers and on radio stations. This Club has increased its membership from 38 to 247 during the year and feels proud of its festival and regular meetings, and invites all collectors to visit it the first Tuesday evening and third Sunday afternoon in the Henry Clay Hotel. — LT. O. H. WALTERS, Pres.

At the 118th meeting of Oak Park (Ill.) Coin Club on December 9, the following officers for 1961 were elected, and installed by M. A. Powells; president, James Grebinger; vice president, Sal T. Genualdi; secretary, S. A. Van Petten; treasurer, Fred I. Catalano; governors, Harry Flower and Irving Harris. The Club's medal of merit was presented to Mary (Mrs. Irving) Harris, four-time secretary-treasurer and the first woman to receive this medal; and to Glenn B. Smedley for service to this club and to numismatics in general. Interesting exhibits were presented by Don Doswell, Zig Florczak, Sal Genualdi, Tom Nolan, Mrs. Ruth Tanner (a guest from Binghamton, N. Y.), Glenn B. Smedley and Fred Catalano, who had the outstanding exhibit of a complete set of 1896 Educational notes and a 1929 U. S. national currency note issued by the Bank of Italy, San Francisco (now the Bank of America). — S. A. VAN PETTEN, Sec.

At its December 8 meeting, the Piedmont Numismatic Society (Newton, N.C.) elected the following officers for 1961: president, Arnold F. Barwick; vice president, J. B. Gregory; secretary, Jeffrey V. Stewart, Sr.; treasurer, James A. Hewitt; directors, Ernie B. Clapp, Dr. James D. Cochran, Jr., Floyd Propst. Although formed just two years ago, this club has over a hundred members and has made its Fifth Saturday Night Auction known over the southeastern seaboard. At these auctions, free bourse tables and refreshments are featured, and numismatists from several states who attend agree that its auction slogan "If It Won't Sell in Newton, It Just Plain Won't Sell" is pretty well right. Regular meetings are held the second Thursday monthly at the Citizens Savings and Loan Association and are open to visitors. — J. V. STEWART, Sec.

The following were elected officers of the Lincoln (Nebr.) Coin Club at its December 8 meeting: president, Arnold L. Higgins; vice president, Gerhart Niebuhr; secretary, James J. Smith and Douglas Smart (to be runoff at next meeting); secretary, Richard Tomczak; treasurer, Charles Lang; sergeant-at-arms, John Bilecke; directors, Harry Dusky and Robert Stiver. Because of the enthusiasm shown at past meetings, it was voted to hold meetings semi-monthly the first and third Tuesday evenings monthly. Visitors are invited to our meetings at the Dearborn Youth Center; inquiries can be addressed to the secretary, P. O. Box 2367, Dearborn, Mich. — RICHARD TOMCZAK, Sec.

Our curator of numismatics exhibited a complete set of large American cents which he reported to be of very substantial value. Albert Nalle had some fine gold pieces which the members admired. Proof sets of 1959 and 1960 have been added to our memorable coin collection which is housed in the Central-Penn Bank vault. Being interested in antiquities also, our host gave a splendid talk on "The Antiquities of Ilex." It was illustrated with a wheelbarrow full of potted holly plants, and the speaker gave many fascinating facts about the various kinds of holly, their reproductive peculiarities and natural responses to various stimuli. — M. WISTAR WOOD, Sec.

The 323rd meeting of New Jersey Numismatic Society was held at the Military Park Hotel on December 8 with 18 in attendance. George Wait filled in for the scheduled speaker, giving a very informative talk on paper money of the American colonies and of the early period of the United States. He brought out that Vermont notes are scarcest because most of them were redeemed; that Pennsylvania issued the largest number of notes and that they are most common; that counterfeiting was a common practice in spite of measures taken to combat it. We had nice exhibits of paper money and some Christmas coins. It being our Christmas meeting, refreshments of sandwiches, cake and coffee were served and we had a "grab bag" exchange of gifts. — JAMES A. BROWN, Sec.-Treas.

Held in a large shopping center at the start of Christmas shopping season, the Bergen County Coin Club's first coin show was successful beyond expectations. We were sure that many people in the area were interested in coin collecting but did not expect the nearly ten thousand who came to view the exhibits, visit and buy from the thirty-two dealers from five states who had bourse tables, and bid in the two-session auction. Among the prize winning exhibits were William Wild's best-in-show "History of U. S. Coins" collection, Ed Black's New Jersey cents which won first in U. S. coins and Walter Stefanacci's bust type half dollars which placed second, Victor Melnechuck's Russian coin collection (considered the best in this country) which was first in the foreign group and Carl Pannicke's second place Canadian dollars, Michael Granis' Biblical and Roman coins that were first in ancients and Carol Carper's second prize Greek coins. In the highly competitive miscellaneous class, Pierre Cariou's "Odd and Curious Monies" won first place, Gilbert Hall's colorful display of military and commemorative medals was second, and Carl Pannicke's Civil War tokens was third. Among club members who were responsible for the show's success were Walter Stefanacci, president, in charge of registrations; Gilbert Hall, bourse chairman; Carl Pannicke in charge of exhibits; Ed Black who aided in planning the layout of floor space and in explaining the hobby to newcomers. General Chairman William Anton had been hospitalized but was able to attend briefly and thank those who had carried on so well during his absence.

The Vallejo Numismatic Society held its regular meeting December 7, 1960 at the Casa De Vallejo Hotel, thirty-four present. Charles V. Kappen gave an informative lecture on coins of the Biblical era. Pictures of various coins were projected on a screen and a set of the pieces was on display. Coins dated from approximately 700 B. C. to 14 A. D. We regret the loss of a very outstanding club member and coin dealer, Lew Mooreman, who died November 24. — M. L. KING, Sec.

Still claiming the title of the "World's Largest Coin Club," the Los Angeles Coin Club had an attendance of 288 members and guests at its 392nd meeting on November 4. Eleven new members were voted in. Attending a meeting of this club gives one the feeling of being at a numismatic convention. Earl Glen Whitehead gave a nice resume of the Cal-State convention held in San Diego in October, and Richard Goodson told us of the A.N.A. and gave many reasons why all collectors should be members of it. John Paradowski, display chairman, named those who had displays at this meeting, as follows: Lee Kuntz, large cents; Bruce McBroom, presidential campaign medals; Thelma Case, trade dollars; W. D. Koonce, Russian medals; Joseph Wozniak, Canadian coin type set. There was a pause of a minute during the business session in memory of Howard Stolper, who passed away on October 19 and will be missed greatly by all who knew him. Speaker of the evening was A. Kosoff, who held the audience spellbound with his account of recent travels through the Far East. His visit included Japan, where we were told coins are hard to find and even harder to buy. Other stops included Hong Kong, Bangkok, Calcutta, Nepal, India, New Delhi, Israel and Jerusalem, where he found a "Widow's Mite." Before returning to the Boston A.N.A. convention, he visited Rome, Athens, Barcelona and Switzerland. Kosoff is an outstandingly interesting speaker who should be heard by everyone who collects coins. Congratulations were extended to our club secretaries, Marlene and Leonard Simon, who became the parents of a 7½ pound baby girl on October 25.

With an attendance of 285, which is about the average for the year, the 393rd meeting was held on December 2. Earl Glen Whitehead was awarded a life membership in the Club for his many years of outstanding service to it. Only two others have received this award previously.

The election of officers for 1961 followed nominations from the floor, in addition to the slate chosen by the nominating committee. The following were elected unanimously: president, Paul Freestone; first vice president, Walter Snyder; second vice president, Tom Wood; recording secretary, Barbara Rhodes; corresponding secretary, Caroline Olson; treasurer, Sid Barnett; sergeant-at-arms, Bill Poggione; and governors, George Bennett, Dick Goodson, Herb Runner, Russ Snyder and Earl Glen Whitehead. Egerton; vice president, Dr. George Fuld; secretary, Donald F. Sussman; treasurer, Harry R. Broll. The election and discussion of future plans for the club were the topics of the meeting. — ELEANOR L. WRIGHT, Sec.

The Date Empire Coin Club, Indio, Cal., adopted by laws at its December 17 meeting in the Security Bank club room. Harry Moore displayed a complete set of uncirculated Buffalo nickels. — DONNA M. LAUBSCH, Corr. Sec.

The Coos County (Oregon) Coin Club held its annual Christmas party December 11, attendance about fifty. At this party we held an auction of items donated by members for the benefit of the Salvation Army, and this year we turned over to it $24 for its Christmas work. A fifteen question test of members' knowledge of various coins revealed that most of us have a lot to learn about our hobby. A talk on three-cent coins was interesting and informative. Entertainment was furnished by a sixteen-member men's barbershop chorus, following which coffee and cake were served. Visitors are always welcome to attend our meetings held the second Sunday afternoon monthly at the Courtel Coos Bay. — LORIN H. ATKINS, Publ. Chm.

The final 1960 meeting of Toronto Coin Club was held in the Royal York Hotel on December 17, with 35 members and 5 guests present. Our generous donor Arthur Lavine presented a trophy to J. J. Cloran for exhibiting the best material during the year. The trophy is strikingly handsome and much admired. Guest-of-honor John Jay Pittman delivered a most informative address, stressing the ravages of bandits upon coin collections, and — a more hopeful theme — the increasingly more receptive market for commemorative issues. The newly elected (see report of previous meeting) officers were installed. Agreement was reached that the Club will apply for the privilege of being host to the C.N.A. 1965 annual convention. Lively discussions at this meeting testify to the deep interest members take in club affairs. — H. A. CRAIG, Editor

The program of the 251st meeting of Cleveland Coin Club on November 2, in the Statler Hilton Hotel, produced something new in numismatic education and entertainment. Laura Caddy introduced Skip Raymond, a high school student who, helped by his younger sister, dramatized their history homework about "Seven Silver Ships." The ships were those on the Norse American Centennial medal, Columbian half dollar, 1949 Canadian silver dollar, another Canadian dollar showing a canoe, a Huguenot Walloon half dollar and a Swedish two kroner piece (Editor's note: the report listed only five of the coins). The skit was well done and demonstrated very well the place numismatics has in studying history. Millie Shunk exhibited political tokens, badges, etc. pertaining to the presidential campaign. Carl DiFalco, Joe Lukas and Nate Gold had interesting exhibits also. The election of 1961 officers resulted as follows: president, Howard Humitsch; vice president, Edwin Raymond; treasurer, Don Decker; secretary, Thelma Hiltbrunner. — THELMA HILTBRUNNER, Sec.

The largest type of Bryan money (cast iron) with bullion value of a dollar and reverse 16 to 1 motto "We don't think" was exhibited by George Bauer at the 1046th meeting of Rochester Numismatic Association. Treasurer Ed Inagallaua gave an interesting talk on Bryan satirical money and the campaign of 1896. John Jay Pittman reported on the recent M.A.N.A. convention, referring especially to the showing of the Mikhailovitch collection in pomp and splendor and to trips through the F. B. I. Building and the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. We had outstanding exhibits at this meeting by John Jay Pittman, Ed Inagallaua, C. Ricard, Don Sandas, Ed Gilroy and the George H. Ford Company. The late C. W. Foster's collection of Rochester Numismatic presidential medals was sold at auction, bringing record prices. — ROBERT E. OGG, Sec.

Correspondence should be addressed to the secretary of the Club, Langley Air Force Base, Virginia. — JOHN G. FRAZIER, Sec.

The latter three were re-elected. Following the business meeting, the seventy present enjoyed a grab bag gift exchange and refreshments. — FRANK A. CIPRIANO, Sec.

The 77th meeting of Central California Coin Club was held December 19 in the Monterey Library. Following a short business meeting, we were pleased to hear a talk by Col. Warren Clear, one of the Club's founders and its first president, whom we were happy to welcome back after a long illness. He gave a hilarious talk on donkey racing in Mexico related his experience in walking across the Great Wall of China in 1914 (being one of the few white men to do so) and spoke of a more recent trip to Europe and Asia where he tried to buy gold coins for friends here. He found gold coins scarcer and more expensive abroad than here, with the best buys in Hong Kong. He mentioned that a major foreign power is making imitations of U. S. double eagles and selling them abroad. He displayed a small statue with goat's head from China, circa 2100 B.C.; a 100 ducat piece of Franz Joseph; and a gold coin of Italy from the Mussolini era. — WARREN S. CLAUNCH, Sec.

The third meeting of Alamo Coin Club on December 20 in the Gunter Hotel, San Antonio, was largely a Christmas social and "get-acquainted" affair. Mrs. Grace Leon, club treasurer, donated coffee and cookies; Jerry Hendrickson, president, provided a six-foot Christmas greeting sign made of 1960-D unc. cents; an aluminum foil Christmas tree, decorated with unc. dimes and cents, for the auction table was made by Secretary Buford Lowery. Informal discussions were held on such numismatic subjects as laws relating to coins, recent outstanding finds, a spring bourse, and current trends toward collecting type coins and mint errors. This Club, organized in November, meets the first and third Tuesdays monthly, has forty members, and will welcome suggestions for subjects for its meetings if sent to the secretary, 1934 Rayburn Drive, San Antonio, Texas. — BUFORD O. LOWERY, Sec.

Everyone present received a 1960-P half dollar, as the Club's Christmas present, from the hand of Santa himself as impersonated by Leroy Meyers. The Club purchased five "bricks" for the San Bernardino County Museum from Bryan Burke who was selling them at one dollar each. — SYLVIA NOVACK, Rec. Sec.

With its membership increased to one hundred, Temple (Texas) Coin Club held its twelfth meeting on December 13 and elected the following 1961 officers: president, Dr. P. H. Butler; vice president, D. L. Russell; secretary, Rev. Don Sanders; treasurer, Jesse Harris. Several members gave short accounts on "How I Became a Coin Collector." One got his start when a newsboy showed him an 1835 half dime which he had taken from a lady for a dime. Feeling sorry for the boy, the speaker said he gave him a dime for the coin, not realizing that it was worth considerably more. Christmas gifts of coins were exchanged and refreshments served. — JAMES C. MARSH, A.N.A. Rep.

The December meeting of the Santa Barbara Coin Club was held on the 12th, which unfortunately coincided with another meeting in the area, and as a result the turnout of members and guests was small in comparison with recent meetings. The President was pleased to report that we now have a hundred active members. Junior Member David Rippberger spoke briefly on his display of counterfeit silver coins; a silver dollar, two halves, and a quarter. Harry Kaplan presented the new A.N.A. slide series of "Odd Shaped Regular Issue Coins of the 20th Century," which was very well received. Commentary was by Ben Romer. President Bower closed the meeting by extending his best wishes to all the members for a Happy Holiday Season.

He has donated his material, and the Club entered a year's subscription to The Numismatist, to the Binghamton Library. Subscriptions were given also to the Your Home Library in Johnson City and the George F. Johnson Memorial Library in Endicott. A committee recommends books for reference on numismatic subjects to each of these libraries, and has suggested the A.N.A. Reprint Books of selections from The Numismatist. — FRED G. HUNTER, Pres.

TOKEN COINAGE

When the law of 1857 was enacted, relating to the coinage of the cent, the opinion yet prevailed that the quantity of metal contained in the piece ought to have a value approximating to the value it represented. In reducing the cent, therefore, from one hundred and sixty-eight grains to seventy-two, its composition was changed to eighty-eight parts of copper and twelve of nickel. As nickel was worth at that time about two dollars a pound, a cent contained nearly half that value of nickel. The director of the mint maintained that although the change was "well intended," the experience of other countries and our own showed this to be an unnecessary liberality, and the money thus used for buying nickel was "so much money wasted." In France a copper piece called a sous then circulated, weighing a little more than our cent, composed of ninety-five per cent copper and five per cent of tin and zinc. He recommended that the law be modified that the cent should contain ninety-five per cent copper and the remainder of zinc and tin in suitable proportions. Acting on this recommendation, Congress, in 1864, authorized the form, weight and composition of the cent which has since that time been coined. — Albert S. Bolles: The Financial History of the United States, 1886, III, 374.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE ALL FOLLOWING CONDITIONS

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to the Advertising Manager, S. W. Freeman, P. O. Box 591, Newport, Ark. Make all remittances payable to the American Numismatic Association.

Advertising Contracts: These are available, covering periods of three, six and twelve consecutive months for display space as listed in the above Table of Rates, and are necessary if the schedule of reduced rates is to apply. If the advertiser prefers not to accept the Contract, such reduced rates will be granted only upon payment in advance for the period desired.

References: All advertisers who submit copy for the first time are definitely requested to furnish therewith banking or other satisfactory references.

Available Space Units: Practical considerations restrict the allocation of space units to those listed in the above table. Any amount of space (subject to any current limitation) is available IF these units or a combination of them are used. Unless contrary instructions are given, copy will be cut if found too full for the space designated; if no designation is made, it shall be understood the amount of space is left to the discretion of the Advertising Manager.

Unless under contract, smaller units than one-half page accepted subject to available space in desired issue.

Deadline: Copy must be received by the Advertising Manager by the 7th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue.

Illustrations: All cuts to be provided by the advertisers, care being used to see that they do not exceed in measurement the limits of the space unit desired. The Advertising Manager will, when requested, have suitable cuts made from furnished photographs.

We cannot accept mats or stereos.

Miscellaneous: Please furnish copy separately from your letter of transmittal. Advertising copy included in the body of a letter usually has to be retyped for the printer; this should not be required. Mail Bid Sales listing not acceptable. It is also the policy of the magazine to limit its advertisements to those of numismatic character.

Preparation of Copy: Advertising copy should be prepared with minute care. Carelessness invites error—something which both advertiser and publisher are anxious to avoid. Use only one side of the sheet. Send originals, not carbon copies. Use only paper of good quality, and not of extremely light weight. All copy must be typed, no handwritten accepted.

In the absence of an Advertising Contract, when payment in advance for any number of consecutive months has been made, if change of copy has not been received by the 7th of the month for the next issue, the latest preceding advertisement will be run.

Advertisers may use a trade name, but, except in the case of an incorporated concern, the name of the proprietor or some other responsible person connected with the firm must also appear in the advertisement.

The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved.

NUMISMATIC DEALERS AND AUCTIONEERS FOR OVER A QUARTER CENTURY

Collectors Prefer America's First Family of Coin Albums The Library of Coins

Complete visibility and complete protection, the two most-wanted features of a coin album, are presented for the first time by The Library of Coins. Bound like books, handsome and compact, each Library of Coins volume displays and protects its coins between two sliding panels of clear, tough plastic. Each coin "porthole" has printed next to it full data on mint mark and quantity minted. Each volume contains a brief background story on the coins, giving both the novice and advanced collector helpful information, including a listing of the rare dates.

Measuring $8\frac{1}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$ ", the volumes are low priced, sturdily manufactured, and permanently bound in a variety of identifying colors for the various denominations. Their compact size permits the storing of a large coin collection in very small space. Backbones are clearly gold stamped so that they are as readily identifiable as are books.

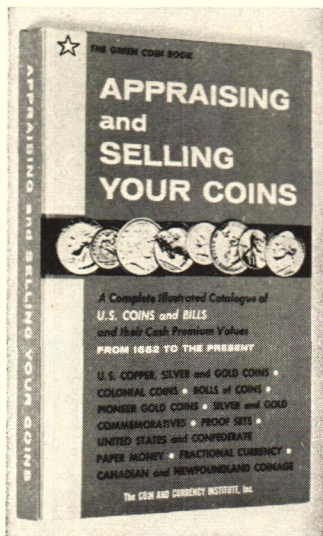

The Library of Coins is the first major innovation in high grade coin albums in more than 30 years. They were several years in development and were designed by numismatists to satisfy the needs and desires of numismatists. Write for a descriptive circular on the Library of Coins.

The Green Coin Book

"APPRAISING AND SELLING YOUR COINS"

a complete illustrated catalogue of U.S. coins and bills and their cash premium values, from 1652 to the present. And the complete coinage of Canada and Newfoundland, from 1858 to the present. Edited by Robert Friedberg.

Hard Cover, Handy Size ($5'' \times 7\frac{1}{2}''$), Fully Illustrated, 176 Pages, Price \$1.75

Only in the Green Coin Book will you find the wealth of coin features being published together for the first time in one superbly produced and well designed book, such as you have grown to expect from the publishers. No other similar book, past or present, can offer the variety of valuable coin information presented here so expertly, so completely and yet so inexpensively.

You get not only a complete catalogue of the standard U. S. coins from 1793 to date in all metals, denominations, dates and mints, but also the following subjects, never before assembled into one volume:

- Rolls of Unc. coins from 1934 to date.
- U. S. Paper Money from 1861 to date.
- Colonial and early American coins.
- Confederate States Paper Money.
- Pioneer Gold Coins.
- Canadian and Newfoundland Coinage from 1858 to date.

The Green Coin Book is extremely well illustrated, coinage figures are given alongside each coin and all items show the average prices paid by dealers.

The publication of the Green Coin Book, "Appraising and Selling Your Coins," is a major event in coin literature. It satisfies an obvious need and does it very well. In this day of intense numismatic activity, no one should be without this book.

For only $1.75 you get a new standard work, crammed with so much important information, that you will consult it constantly. It is truly a unique book; it is authoritative, and for what it contains, it is an incredible bargain.

MR. EDWIN M. HYDEMAN
must make numismatic history!

The Catalogue will offer the KING of AMERICAN COINS, the 1804 Silver Dollar. This, the famous Idler Specimen, is one of the finest known and most desirable of the few available examples. Condition-wise and Pedigree-wise, the Idler Specimen is outstanding.

By Special Arrangement with Mr. Hydemán, who was reluctant to part with his pet coin, we will offer the fabulous 1913 Liberty Head Nickel as part of this history-making event.

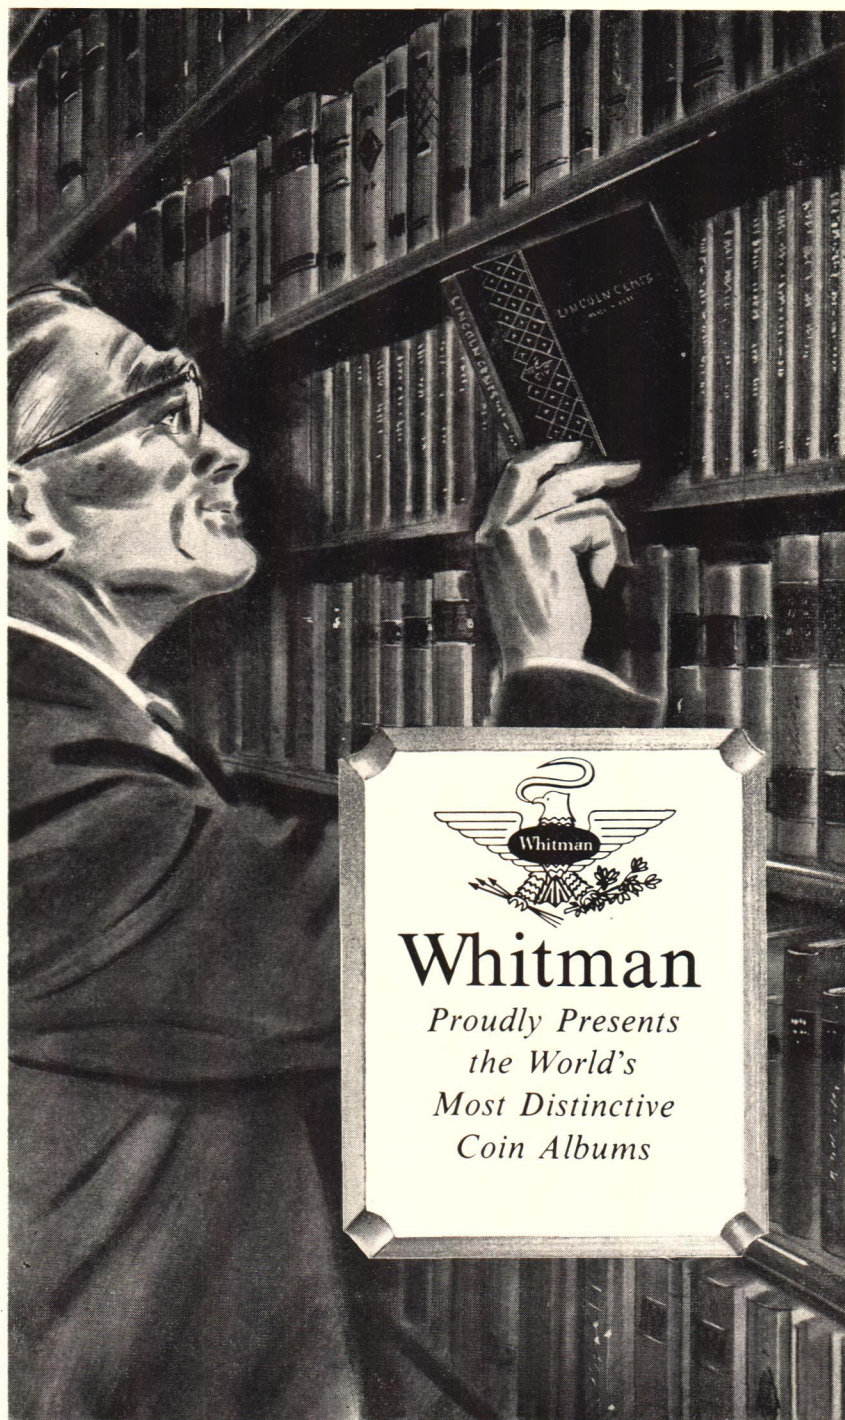

We could continue about the Jerome Kern 1876-CC 20 Cents piece, the 1894-S dime out of the Niel & World's Greatest Collections and so many more rare and beautiful coins. Why gild the lily?

Catalogues are scheduled for late January release. Free to all on our mailing list and to others on request. The dates? MARCH 3-4, 1961 at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Los Angeles, California in conjunction with the Convention of the Numismatic Association of Southern California.

FOR SALE

Set of GOLD DOLLARS

This set includes all of the collectible varieties and lacks only the following to be complete: 1855D, 1856D, 1861D, and 1875.

QUALITY:

These coins required over ten years to assemble, and the emphasis has been on quality. Of the seventy-nine coins in the set, seventy are either proofs or are uncirculated. Several are from famous collections and in many instances premium prices were paid for choice specimens. Every coin is guaranteed to be genuine.

PRICE:

The price, seven thousand dollars, is about 10 percent below the current market as shown in the latest edition of the Red Book. Many specimens, of the quality offered, cannot be obtained at these prices. Hence this is an opportunity to acquire a set of which any owner might well be proud, as well as being an excellent investment.

"THIS IS A VERY GOOD IDEA!"

A typical response of the many hundreds received upon the announcement of the formation of the COIN-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB. Because of the heavy response, we have not been able to answer all questions on an individual basis. Consequently, we have prepared the following list of your questions and answered them in order that everyone will better understand our purpose. However, if you still have further questions please do not hesitate to ask us for specific information.

When will the first commemorative be issued and how often will they be issued?

The first was issued in January, 1961. There are still copies of the first issue available in all metals. Commemoratives will be issued every month and they will be mailed to club members the first week of the month.

Is there an initiation fee to become a member?

No! You pay only for the actual medals. There are seven membership choices with different costs. You choose the membership plan you desire and pay only for the actual medals you wish to receive.

May I buy each month's offering separately?

Yes! But you save money by becoming a year-around member and will receive the complete set of commemoratives for your collection.

Can you put out a good commemorative every month? Doesn't it take quite a long time to make sure the medal is perfect?

Yes, it takes a long time to be sure all the details of each medal are right. You will be interested to know that work on the medals is done as much as a year in advance. Our staff of experts is already working on the issues for fall and winter of 1961 and have plans far into 1962. For this reason we can promise a perfect commemorative each month. Satisfaction is guaranteed or your money will be refunded.

In what size is the Coin-of-the-Month commemorative struck?

They will all be 33 mm (1 3/8") in diameter and about as thick as a United States Government half dollar.

In what metals and finishes are the commemoratives available?

They are available in sterling silver, nickel-silver (the regular issue), oxidized silver, bright bronze, oxidized bronze and gold plated. Write and give us your opinion of eliminating all but sterling silver and nickel-silver and adding a gold series.

What will the commemorative issues be?

There will be a series of six to eight Civil War commemoratives spread out over the next two years; statehood and territorial centennial issues; commemoratives honoring famous Americans, events in American history and famous historical places. Later issues will include commemoratives suggested by Coin-of-the-Month members.

What will the "special" issues include that you promise to Coin-of-the-Month Club members at reduced cost?

We have a designer working on a series of commemoratives on the most famous cities of the United States and the world. A number of "Space Age" commemoratives are being considered and a series on countries that are members of the United Nations . . . and others.

ESPECIALLY DESIGNED FOR COMMEMORATIVE COLLECTORS

Add to your collection regularly at low cost. Each month an exciting new commemorative will be mailed to you. Carefully designed. Struck in a variety of beautiful metals.

THE SAGA OF OUTER SPACE GOLD

We live in this space age; and the age IS the SPACE AGE and no other! It was only natural that the GOLD CELESTON, the first and only Gold Coin to come from Outer Space should shatter the calm of the numismatic world. All numismatists are due for a re-awakening every so often. Haven't you, as a collector, musing over the listings of "California Gold," "Louisiana Gold," "The Bechtlers Gold," "State Gold," "Territorial Gold," and many other kinds of old gold coins, wondered if you had lived then, would you have been alert enough to grab off some of the rare gold?

WHY NOT COLLECT OUTER SPACE GOLD?

It takes an established Nation or independent State to mint and issue its own gold coins. But today nearly all nations of the world are hamstrung by inflation and the impracticability of staying on any kind of a gold standard. All except Celestia! Celestia, the Nation of Celestial Space, with its 12-year-old, legally recorded Charter to all space in the skies (real estate, and if Space isn't real estate, then you don't own anything immediately above your own house and lot) is dependent on no other nation or group of Nations for its decisions and operations. Celestia has applied, (December 29, 1948) for membership in the United Nations and its application, in complete conformity with the Charter of the U.N., is still on file waiting for some U.N. Officer of vision and imagination to see this Nation as the only answer to permanent peace. In the meantime, Celestia can do what it wants without consulting the U.N.

With 27,000 celestial participants, it has the smallest population of any country in the universe, but infinitely more sovereign territory than any other. So Celestia says to you, Mr., Mrs., Miss or Master Coin Collector: "Get on the ball and start collecting Outer Space Gold - THE GOLD CELESTON."

THUS FAR SIX DIFFERENT COINS WERE MINTED, ALL OF COIN GOLD .900 FINE

CELESTON ENLARGED

The Celestia Outer Space Mint began minting official Gold Celestons in December 1959 and has thus far issued these six coins: The 1959 Mint, the 1960 Mint, the 1959 Proof, the 1959 Proof with Small "R" on obverse (a sheer accident), the 1960 Proof and the 1961 Proof. Since Gold is the most resplendent of all the metals, all these coins are insuperably brilliant, the proof coins with practically immaculate fields when inspected under a power glass.

It took three years of painful and costly work to produce the Gold Celestion. I have 36 handmade steel dies and an amazing assortment of experimental and trial pieces to indicate the laborious process involved. But I rejoice in the knowledge that the Gold Celestion is a beautiful, expressively modern coin, that in one short year has become known as the most wanted and publicized gold coin of this era. The mintages are near exhaustion, but the 1961 Gold Proof is in fair supply. (The 1961 Gold Celestion was minted in PROOF ONLY.)

BUY DIRECT FROM MINT - ALL COINS UNTOUCHED, UNHANDLED, COMPLETELY PRIME

And they come to you insured and postpaid in a unique plastic box, transparent so that the coin can be enjoyed without handling. Where else and when else could you buy this kind of gold coin direct from the mint? The GOLD CELESTON - 9/16 inch in diameter, weight 34 grains (about 35% more gold than U. S. Gold Dollar) genuine coin gold .900 fine, reeded edge, in all its pristine resplendence. No Gold Celestion has ever been returned by a purchaser.

PRESENTING A NEW KIND OF COIN BOOK FOR ALL COLLECTORS, INVESTORS AND COLLECTOR-INVESTORS!!

UNCOVERED!

THE PRICES OF UNCIRCULATED U. S. COINS FOR EACH SEPARATE YEAR SINCE 1935!

A FASCINATING YEAR TO YEAR HISTORY OF COIN PRICES THAT WILL OPEN YOUR EYES!

LEARN WHAT THE YEARLY PRICE CHANGE PERCENTAGE HAS BEEN ON EACH COIN. MANY SURPRISES IN FIGURES REVEALED!

WHAT WILL YOUR EXPENSIVE COLLECTION, YOUR COIN INVESTMENTS, BE WORTH IN THE YEARS AHEAD . . . WHAT ARE THEIR "MATURITY" DATES AND VALUES?

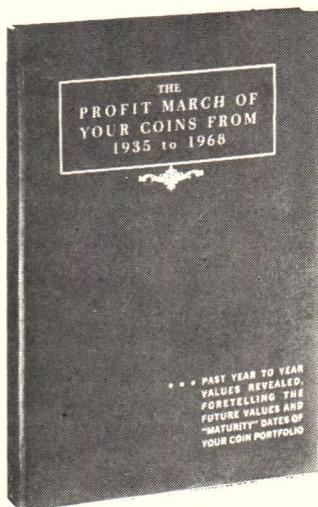

For the first time this priceless data is made available in "The Profit March of Your Coins from 1935 to 1968." Here you will find a scientific and accurate scale of future values based upon what each coin has done in the past. Up until now such predictions were based on the mere pulling of a hypothetical figure out of the air. You'll see how coin prices change over the years, the price change percentages, coinage totals, projected prices from 1961 to 1968, comments on the future . . . on each and every uncirculated coin or proof set. Reading this guide will leave you with a new respect for your investment.

Until now the factors involved in coin futurities have not been presented so there has been no yardstick with which to measure the possibilities. Now revealing pages mathematically prove that most investments in coins will, regardless of present confusion, produce future yields that will far exceed expectations!

If you have a valuable collection or have set aside rolls, you should know how long it will be before your coins are worth a certain set amount of money . . . enough, perhaps, for college educations . . . travel . . . or even partial retirement (it has been done). You'll get the answers when you have this unusual book before you. You will be shown the individual price pattern of each coin, the length of each cycle and the frequency of change. With this set pattern you can observe how long the upsurges and the downsurges lasted in the past and govern future actions accordingly.

"THE PROFIT MARCH OF YOUR COINS FROM 1935 TO 1968"

LEARN WHICH COINS ARE LIKELY TO INCREASE IN PRICE FIRST . . . WHICH WILL OFFER THE BEST SECURITY OVER THE YEARS.

Inasmuch as the past is but a mirror of the future, it would behoove any coin collector or investor to seriously review the past price history. Such records have always been available in other investment fields. Now for the first time you have that same opportunity. Don't guess or worry any longer because of a lack of investment knowledge.

"Specializing in America's finest coins — buying, selling and numismatic research"

CONSIDERING THE SALE OF YOUR COLLECTION?

Much careful thought was given during the years in which your collection was formed. The same careful consideration should be given to the sale of your collection. You want to realize the maximum price for your collection without undue difficulty.

During the past years we have handled many of the finest coins and collections to be offered for sale. These have ranged from small collections to some of the very largest. Included have been many of the greatest United States rarities.

Why have we been able to buy so many fine coins and collections? The willingness to pay a generous price is an important reason. We have always based our purchase offers on a first hand up-to-the-minute knowledge of coin market conditions. This, together with a large sales volume, has enabled us to operate on a smaller margin of profit.

Another factor of success in our coin buying is knowledge and experience. In addition to handling many collections of the regular United States series we have had extensive experience in the purchase and sale of the more diverse series . . . tokens, store cards, patterns, territorial gold, Colonials, etc.

A third important factor is financial responsibility. We have always given prompt payment without delay, in both purchase and auction arrangements. We invite you to check our professional financial references.

When you decide to sell your numismatic holdings give us the opportunity to make an offer. There will be no obligation whatever on your part. If you prefer to sell by auction we offer expert, authoritative cataloging with proven results. We believe you, like many other collectors, will like the way we do business. May we look forward to the pleasure of hearing from you?

(1) Roll (20) 1885-CC$225.00

Carson City Morgan Dollars
All Strictly Uncirculated

The 1885 Carson City Dollar with a mintage of only 228,000 is the fourth smallest mintage of all Silver Dollars from 1878 to 1935. To own one of these in strictly brilliant uncirculated condition for only $15.00 is one of the scarce coins all collectors should have; and to own a roll of 20 with an investment of only $225.00 should not be overlooked by all investment minded collectors.

For comparison the 1889-CC Dollar, total mintage of 350,000, is now selling for $150.00 each; the 1892-CC Dollar, mintage over one million is selling for more than $20.00 each; and the 1879-CC Dollar, with 756,000, has a price tag of about $85.00.

Our Special Price for the set of six 1880 to 1885 is $59.50. The proof-like CC Dollars listed below have a beautiful mirrored field.

Please keep in mind that all these Dollars are strictly Brilliant Uncirculated Coins and the ten different dates listed below are certainly well behind the spectacular rise in price of most desirable coins in the past year.

Useful for cleaning all kinds of coins, but particularly adapted to cleaning coins of copper or nickel.

EASY TO USE AND ECONOMICAL! FAST ACTION — IT ACTUALLY CLEANS IN SECONDS!

Does not add shine, but brings out natural color, including original brilliance if it is still there under tarnish or coating. Dull or dark uncirculated coins become brilliant uncirculated coins in seconds.

This result of years of experiment can be safely used on valuable coins to improve their appearance and increase their value.

On sale in many leading stores in 4-oz. bottles, with full directions, at $1.00.

If your dealer does not yet have it, send us $1.00 for 3-oz. bottle (enough to clean hundreds of coins) carefully packed and postpaid to any address in the United States or Canada.

SPECIAL OFFER TO DEALERS

Send $4.00 for six 4-oz. bottles of "CCC," postpaid.

BUSINESS OR PLEASURE?

Do you collect for the fun of it? Do you like to relax with your coins?

Many collectors now treat their hobby like a business, watching the market reports, and buying and selling for investment (and also worrying about the profits and losses).

I suggest that you take stock of yourself, and get back to the "fun" state which you once had when you began, perhaps long ago. If you want to relax with your hobby, why not try foreign coins? You buy a coin because you like it today, not because of tomorrow's profits. You enjoy it now, and after all, you can't take it with you.

Perhaps you will enjoy my price list of foreign coins, from minor through gold, nice coins, fair prices. This list is free; please write for it now and become a collector again.
